A SPECIAL AVIATION committee will report to the House of Representatives that the national aviation situation is alarming. It will say that this nation does not realize the importance of air power, that we need to spend money and get action.

THE NATION will be grateful for that report, even if it should be overruled finally by decisions of the "big butter and egg men" that are chosen to run aviation for the United States.

To know that you are in danger is at least the beginning of wisdom.

MUSSOLINI'S NAME was hissed by a crowd in New York that doubtless meant well. But New York is a long way from Italy, and the New York crowd was a long way from understanding Mussolini's and Italy's problems.

WHEN THE WAR ended Italy had her choice of imitating Russia or submitting to Mussolini's strong hand. Under his direction Italy has kept her men at work, her women and children fed. Italy has retained the respect of other European nations and has known how to enforce her rights. And under Mussolini the Italian lire is worth more than the French franc.

AS THE FRENCH franc continues to fall, many in France demand the establishment of a dictatorship on the Mussolini plan. You will read of that in this morning's despatches.

The French have a proverb: "Great evils require great remedies." Many remedies might be more dangerous than Mussolini.

MUSSOLINI, undisturbed by criticism and attempts at murder, goes ahead with his plans. He means to declare Italy an empire, reviving the old Roman Empire. Garibaldi made Victor Emanuel's father King. Mussolini would make his King Emperor, following in the steps of Disraeli, the man of Asiatic ancestry, who made Victoria Empress of India. If you start with momentum you can go a long way.

SPRINGFIELD WOMAN OF 47 SEEKING 'RACE' WITH SOCIETY 'HIKER'

And now comes a challenge to "Eleo" Sears.

Lillian Connolly, forty-seven-year-old Springfield woman, who walked from her home city to the shrine of Ste. Anne de Beaupre, in Canada, in thirty-nine days, claims that she can beat the Back Bay woman's record from Boston to Providence and offers to race Eleo over any distance, regardless of weather conditions, for a wager of $1,000.

Miss Connolly was an invalid when she started on her record-breaking walk last Summer. She had gone through seventeen operations, and was sick the day she started. But she was cured by her visit, she maintains. On three different days on her hike she covered more than forty miles, she says.

"I don't need any special training," said Miss Connolly in throwing down her glove to Miss Sears today, "but if the Boston woman needs time to train I will permit it.

"I was so thankful to recover my strength after my visit to the shrine that I have always kept myself in the best possible condition in

CASTS BALLOT IN NAME OF TRAFFIC OFFICER

Trouble, expected at the polling places in the Chelsea city election occurred today, when Michael J. Bozen of No. 241 Havre street, East Boston, was arrested on a charge of trying to pass himself off as Policeman Richard Ahern to vote in Precinct 1, Shurtleff street.

The police charge that Bozen passed the cordon of State Police and local policemen, and had already cast his ballot when challenged by a teller. He stuck to his story that he was Policeman Ahearn even after that traffic officer had been called off his post to confront the man.

As a result of the arrest, and expecting other attempts to stuff the ballot boxes and to vote illegally, the police guards were doubled at all precincts.

The police at the Chelsea police station declare Bozen was under the influence of alcohol when arrested. They found two half-filled bottles containing "bay rum," and charge he had been drinking this liquid.

Bozen later denied that he had tried to pose as Policeman Ahearn, and said he had gone into the booth to vote under his own name.

Police and election officers declare that he was not entitled to a vote at that precinct under any name.

Bozen was arrested by State Police Officer Burke and Policeman Richard McGauley of the local force. He offered no resistance.

Fearing that Bozen's alleged attempt was but the start of a con-

GOODWIN RAPS FINES FOR MANSLAUGHTER

Registrar of Motor Vehicles Frank A. Goodwin today delivered another verbal smash at District Attorney Thomas C. O'Brien.

Goodwin's latest statement follows O'Brien's reply to the registrar's chrage that "they get away with murder" in Suffolk County. The District Attorney cited the records of his office in a vigorous denial of Goodwin's charge.

Whereupon Godowin declared:

SENEGALESE FIGHTER SHOT DEAD; BOOTLEGS HUNTED AS SLAYERS

New York, Dec. 15.—"Battling Siki," Senegalese pugilist, whose real name was Louis Phal, was found murdered early today on the West Side. Death had been caused by bullet wounds.

The body was found lying face downward on the sidewalk about 100 feet east of Ninth avenue in the district known as "Hell's Kitchen." Identity was established by Policeman John J. Meehan, a friend of Siki's, who found the body.

Patrolman Meehan said he had met the Senegalese fighter a short distance from where the body was found a little after midnight and that they had exchanged greetings. Siki, Patrolman Meehan said, shouted that he was on his way home. The Senegalese lived on West Forty-second street with his wife and a pet monkey.

Four hours later Patrolman Meehan was walking through Forty-first street, when he saw the body of a man lying on the sidewalk. He turned the body over and recognized Siki. An ambulance was called, but Dr. Bassaton pronounced Siki dead.

A revolver was found in the gutter a short distance away, from which two shots had been fired, and it was believed by the police that the weapon was used to commit the murder and then thrown away as the slayer fled from the scene.

An enemy who warned Siki more than a week ago by means of a note thrust under his door that he was going to "get him" is being hunted in connection with the crime.

The man's identity is known to the fighter's widow, the police declare. It is thought that bootleggers to whom Siki owed money for "white mule" may have had a hand in the murder. Another theory is

5 FIREMEN FELLED AT BLAZE IN GLOUCESTER

Gloucester, Dec. 15.—Five firemen were overcome by escaping gas and the business district of the city threatened by a fire of undetermined origin which did damage estimated at $50,000 to the two-and-a half story wooden block at Mair and Porter streets.

The block is in the heart of the city and adjoined by other wooden buildings to one of which the fire spread. Because of dense clouds of smoke which filled the blazing structure, the firemen were handicapped in locating the flames and

BY PARIS AIRPLANE AND ATLANTIC LINER, BOSTON SOCIETY GIRL BECOMES "BRIDE OF SEA"

WHERE WEDDING CEREMONY WILL BE PERFORMED

Captain Herbert Hartley of the Leviathan who was to marry Miss Mary Crandon of Brookline to Sebastian Herbert Braggiotti on the bridge of the steamship somewhere on the English Channel today.

Thrilled by the romantic marriage of their brother today are the Braggotti sisters, Berthe and Francesca, noted society dancers, who are seen in one of their classic renditions.

The United States liner Leviathan, due to leave Southampton, England, for Cherbourg, France, today to the accompaniment of rare romance. Mary Crandon and Sebastian Herbert Braggiotti, both of Brookline, boarded her at Southampton and will leave her at Cherbourg. On the short trip they will be married by Captain Hartley, thus having the ceremony performed on the "soil" of the United States and avoiding complications of foreign marriage laws.

Mary Crandon, Boston and Brookline, society girl "Bride of the Sea," who flew from Paris to London with her fiance in order to be married today on the Leviathan. Both have been abroad for months, following a romance that began at home.

GOODWIN SAYS O'BRIEN FAILS TO EXPLAIN

should descend to personalities. The failure to properly punish crime and the exposition of that failure is not a personal matter. It is a matter of grave public interest.

"His answer to the Bruno case requires no comment except to say that a murderer of at least two persons is still at large, permitted to go free on straw bail with the consent of Mr. O'Brien and his assistant, Mr. Robinson. Not only that, but for more than two years the perjurer who gave the straw bail has been allowed to remain free until the whole disgraceful proceeding was made public.

"But now to the more important charge about the freedom with which murderers may operate in Suffolk County without fear of punishment. In 1925, O'Brien went before the Grand Jury and presented evidence that satisfied that body that he had sufficient evidence to convict 17 persons of murder and there were pending 12 more that he had indicted the year before.

"Of these 29 persons who were indicted by the Grand Jury on Mr. O'Brien's say-so, only three went to State Prison and none was electrocuted. But here is the extraordinary action which calls for explanation: After he had presuaded the Grand Jury that he had enough evidence to convict these 29 of murder, he immediately changed his opinion and nol prossed 13, and placed 5 on file.

"What was the reason for the sudden change of opinion? He also agreed to a fine on 5 others. Just imagine fining a man for murder!

"I want to call attention further to how cheaply life is held in Suffolk County and how free those persons are from punishment who take life by violence.

"At the beginning of the criminal statistical year on October 1, 1924, there were pending twelve cases that had been indicted by O'Brien for manslaughter. During the year there were fifty-eight more indicted. In other words, there were seventy cases where O'Brien satisfied the Grand Jury that he had sufficient evidence to convict for manslaughter.

"What happened to these seventy? One was sentenced to the reformatory; five went to the House of Correction for short terms; 8 were fined, and three are still pending for sentence.

"When we look over this record of disposition of manslaughter cases and then remember that only three person indicted for murder went to State Prison and no one electrocuted, is it not a fair statement that you can get away with murder in Suffolk County?

"In conclusion, I am very glad to have had the word 'megalomania' called to my attention. I have looked it up in the dictionary and it reminds me of the recent city election."

Principal in Goodwin and Leahy Row Gets Jail

Max Bornstein of Fordham road, Allston, over whose automobile law violation case Registrar Goodwin and Captain Timothy Leahy engaged in a spirited controversy, was sentenced to jail in Cambridge court today.

He was sentenced to serve three months in the House of Correction on a charge of drunken driving and to pay a $10 fine on a drunkenness charge when he appeared in the Third District Court in East Cambridge. A $200 fine, assessed and suspended when he was arrested about a year ago for drunken driving, was added to today's fine.

Goodwin had cited the Bornstein case as typical of the manner in which violators of the law gain virtual immunity. Leahy retorted that Goodwin misrepresented the circumstances and threatened to sue the registrar.

In Other Words, Frank 'Has a Swelled Head'

AMONG other things, District Attorney O'Brien in a statement called Registrar Goodwin:

A "megalomaniac," meaning, according to Webster, "a form of mental alienation in which the patient has grandiose ideas."

And then O'Brien goes on:

"What an excellent hangman Mr. Goodwin would make! Probably Mr. Goodwin would hang them all, even those who are not caught, and undoubtedly, if given enough rope, Mr. Goodwin would hang himself.

"Is it not the attempt of a muck-raker to secure headlines for irresponsible assertions?

"Mr. Goodwin is either guilty of wilful maliciousness or is inexcusably ignorant. In either case, he is highly dangerous, not to the officials whom he attacks, but to the public so persistently misled and excited."

'I'M GOOD,' SAYS WIFE, 'AND NOBODY'S PET'

Mrs. Claire Slepian denies charges of husband that she was too friendly with other men while he was in West on business.

Chief Justice Hall, in Suffolk Superior Court today, halted testimony in the divorce case brought by Arthur Slepian, Tech graduate, against Claire Holcomb Slepian and hinted that "suspicious circumstances surrounding the testimony of some of the witnesses might end in perjury charges."

Mrs. Slepian, who again took the stand, emphatically denied she had been on "parties" with the two correspondents, William Kravitz and David Shrank.

Following Mrs. Slepian's testimony Shrank was questioned. He denied attending any parties with the defendant or of knowing about any of the alleged parties.

Kravitz, who followed on the stand, said he had been at a party with the defendant, but declared the affair was perfectly decorous.

The case came to an abrupt end when the judge announced that he would reserve his decision. Both sides were ready to file motions to take the case to a higher court if the decision had come today.

BROOKLINE PAIR FLY TO WED ON U. S. LINER

Paris, Dec. 15.—An airplane, with Eros at the control-stick and Cupid acting as mechanician, flew from here to London bearing Miss Mary Crandon of Brookline, Mass., and Sabastian Herbert Braggiotti, also of Brookline, who will be married today on the bridge of the steamship Leviathan by Captain Herbert Hartley.

The couple decided to wed aboard the American ship so that the ceremony would be performed in American territory, thus avoiding any complications of foreign laws.

Following their marriage somewhere on the English channel on the journey to Cherbourg, the couple will spend a honeymoon on the Riviera. Mrs. George F. Smith, mother of the bride-to-be, will return to the United States after the ceremony.

The wedding of Miss Crandon and Mr. Braggiotti, member of the well known Braggiotti family of Upland road, Brookline, is the culmination of a romance between the couple whose inclinations have been toward a movie career.

Miss Berthe and Miss Francesca Braggiotti, Boston's famous society dancers, declared today that they were both surprised and pleased at the suddenness of their brother's marriage and the novel scene he chose for the wedding ceremony.

"Still, persons of artistic temperament and adventurous nature, like Sabastian is, might be expected to do something like that," said Miss Francesca.

"We wish him and Mary all the good luck in the world. They have known each other since childhood, but we had no idea they were going to be married."

GUARD POLLS

certed effort to vote illegally in many sections of the city, those in command of the State and Chelsea police quickly broadcast an order doubling the police guard at all polling places.

All indications pointed to a total vote of more than 90 per cent. of the total enrolled, 12,262. The polls were scheduled to close at 4 p. m.

More than 60 per cent. of the total vote was cast at noon, showing the widespread interest in the fight for Mayor.

The effort of Miss Cecile Cohen, school teacher, to win election as an alderman-at-large against three male candidates, was one of the features that attracted women to the ballot-boxes. The other feature was the fight between Mayor Lawrence F. Quigley, seeking a fifth term, and Alderman Clarence Richmond, seeking to oust him from the mayoral chair.

QUIGLEY THE ISSUE.

While Quigley, who is under indictment in the Federal court for alleged conspiracy to violate the Volstead law, declared in a pre-election statement that in today's election he is seeking vindication, Richmond countered with the assertion that the contest is one for vindication for no individual but for the city of Chelsea itself.

There is also an election in Beverly, but no mayoral contest was on the schedule there.

In Chelsea, besides the mayoral, aldermanic and school committee contests, the voters were to decide whether the firemen shall get a $300 raise.

'Twas an Evil Day to Tackle a Toomey

Leo D. Bergen today regrets that he picked out a man bearing the name of William Toomey as hold-up victim on the 17th of March. Bergin appeared before Judge Brown in Norfolk Superior Court today charged with the robbery of $900 and a silver watch from Tomey, and he was sentenced to from three to five years in State Prison.

In the same court, John C. Hallan was sentenced to four months for the unlawful appropriation of the automobile belonging to Earl C. Stanton.

2 HELD IN HEAVY BAIL FOR AUTOMOBILE THEFT

Earl Jacobs, twenty-one years old, of Rocky Hill, Ct., and Ralph Medhurst, twenty-two, of West Dudley, Ct., arrested in Norwich, Ct., on a charge of having stolen an automobile from the Dorchester-Buick Co., were today held for the Grand Jury in $5,000 bail each by Judge Churchill in Dorchester Court.

forced to fight the blaze by pouring water into every part of the building.

Three stores were wiped out and four others partially destroyed. The five firemen overcome were trying to penetrate the smoke on the second floor when they inhaled gas from a broken wall bracket. They were assisted out by comrades and revived.

They are Louis H. Frances Samuel Mattos, Charles Lowe, Everett Sawyer and George Barnes, the last a "spark," acting as a volunteer fire-fighter.

The stores destroyed were the George A. Davis Bottling Co., in the basement, the A. P. Cooke clothing store and the millinery shop of Miss Alice Bentley on the street floor.

CAN'T EVEN GET A KISS NOW, SAYS HUSBAND

Charles H. Lord of Central Falls, R. I., Accused by Former Liberty Motor Expert

Central Falls, R. I., Dec. 15.—Charles Henry Lord, former mayor of the city, father of two children, and head of a large business, was arrested today on the charge of alienating the affections of Mrs. Bertha A. Jetts.

The charge was brought by the woman's husband, Oscar A. Jette, one of the designers of the famed Liberty motor during the war, and now a shoe manufacturer.

Even more sensational than the arrest of Lord was the story told by Jette to the police. Lord, he claimed, had broken up his home by his intimacy with Mrs. Jette, caused her to cease to love not only her husband but her children.

CALLED HIM A CUR.

"The climax came last night," said Jette, "and convinced me that I must bring the charge. My wife said she was going to Providence, and I followed her. She saw me, abused me, called me a cur, and said if she had a gun she would shoot me.

"Later she returned to our home, invited Lord in, and urged him to beat me."

The husband said that Lord and Mrs. Jette first met at a Pawtucket dance hall, and since that time had been frequently in each other's company until the morning hours, his wife reaching home at such an hour that she could not getup in time to get the children ready for school.

"It's not for myself," the husband said, "but for my children I take this step."

Lord was arrested as he got out of his automobile at his home here today when he returned for dinner. He would not discuss the case as he arranged for bail.

MAYOR AND AVIATOR.

He first entered public life as councilman in 1906, and in 1917 was elected mayor, an office which he held for four years. During the war he was in the aviation branch of the signal corps, being stationed at San Antonio.

Said the heart-broken husband today: "We were happy until I saw Lord come into my home and steal my wife's love. I tried to win her back again, but I was powerless. I worked hard for her and my two children, Phyllis and Norman, the former four years old, the latter six. They cried for their mother when she was out nearly every night, and I spent many sleepless hours."

Mrs. Jette is the daughter of a New Bedford contractor, her maiden name being Bertha Sorelle.

POLISH QUOTA USED UP, STOWAWAY OUT OF LUCK

Poland's immigration quota for the current year was exhausted when Fred Hoosac, a citizen of that country, decided to come to America. Nothing daunted, Fred went to Cuba and decided on taking a chance at entering the country. So he stowed away in the British steamer Baron Semphill, coming to Boston with sugar.

Today when Tom Finnegan's special duty custom guard searched the ship at the South Boston refinery dock, looking for liquor and dope, they found Hoosac and twenty-nine bottles of Cuban rum. He cant land, that's all.

TWO MEN SENTENCED FOR ATTACKS ON WOMEN

Senton B. Higgins of Brookline was today sentenced to two and a half years in the House of Correction by Judge Brown in Dedham Superior Court for an attack upon Marion Sisco on August 29 last in Brookline. He slashed the woman several times with a razor following a quarrel.

Judge Brown also sentenced Bennie Da Gastino, twenty-four of Braintree, to from four to six years in the State Prison for attacking a fifteen-year-old girl.

NEW BUILDING SUBWAY IN CAMBRIDGE UNOPPOSED

The petition of the Boston Elevated for approval of a subway connection with a new office building and garage in process of construction at Kendall Square, Cambridge, was unopposed at a hearing today before the public utilities commission. Kendall P. Foster, representing the Manufacturers' National Bank Realty Trust and the Kendall Square Building Trust, explained that the direct connection proposed was to provide easy access for patrons of the buildings and the garage to the subway.

RADCLIFFE GIRLS, BECOME EXPERT IN CHARLESTON, MAKE BRIGGS HALL GAY

Ruth Heeks is rapidly becoming an expert in doing the Charleston.

Two of the Radcliffe "Charleston teachers" and three of the most apt pupils in their dancing class. Left to right, Ruth Seitz, teaching; Ruth Heeks, Frances Adams, Florence Connor and Arlene Smith, who also is teaching the steps! A scene such as this may be seen any day—morning, noon or night—at Briggs Hall, now that the craze has become popular.

Arlene Smith of Brockton is responsible for the spread of the craze at Radcliffe.

NEWEST DANCE FAD SWEEPS COLLEGE

At Radcliffe they're doing the Charleston, and doing it mighty well. Briggs Hall is the home of the new fad imported direct from New York by two or three gay damsels who are numbered among the 72 occupying that classic dormitory.

But New York hasn't the honor of sending forth Radcliffe's most adept Charleston steppers. That honor goes to Arlington and Brockton, with Florence Connor and Arlene Smith as the proponents of New England supremacy. Florence and Arlene are much in demand now every time there's a lull in classes and studies.

They step the Charleston in the morning, strut it at noon and then repeat after dinner. They Charleston while waiting for the mailman in the morning and at noon right after lunch, then at night they repeat.

Briggs Hall is a much merrier place since the Charleston invaded it. Every night somebody knocks off bar after bar of jazz while Florence and Arlene teach their dance class.

$1,000 Reward is Up for Radio Fan Bird

Grand Rapids, Mich., Dec. 15 (A.P.)—A reward of $1,000 was offered today by Fred H. Hirth, owner of a stone-cutting company, for the return alive of "Hamsl," a Baltimore oriole, that has been a pet at the Hirth home eight years.

The bird, taken into the home when it fell from a nest as a fledgling, never has been caged.

"Hamsl" was a confirmed radio fan, sitting for hours listening to music from the air.

2 DAMS BURST; WHOLE TOWN IN PERIL

Roberval, Que., Dec. 15 (A.P.)—The sudden rising of Lac des Commissaires has caused two dams to collapse, and threatend with inundation the village of Val Jalbert in Northern Quebec.

Timely closing of a lock shut off the water. The first dam gave way for a distance of five hundred feet and the other had broken down about thirty feet when the water was placed under control.

The pulp and paper mills at Val Jalbert were flooded and the Canadian national railroad track was covered with three feet of water.

It will cost about $200,000 to rebuild the broken dams.

BARONESS CALLS ON GOV. FULLER

Governor Fuller today received a visit from Baroness De Alcahali, a prominent portrait painter of Spain, and accepted an invitation to attend an exhibition of paintings at the Hotel Brunswick, Friday afternoon.

The baroness, who is a pupil of Ignace Zuologa, several of whose paintings are in the possession of the Governor, was accompanied by Manuel de Saler, Spanish vice-consul.

SLEUTHS DIG UP PAST OF DR. SPARKS

Physician Accused in Death of Jessie Lyman Under Probe of U. S. Agents

Northampton, Dec. 15—[illegible] Federal narcotic inspectors and a prohibition agent caused a stir today when they arrived for "a general survey of conditions" which might include, they said, an investigation of the affairs of Dr. Clarence I. Sparks, now in jail here charged with performing an illegal operation which caused the death of Miss Jessie Lyman, college secretary.

Dr. Sparks lost his license to write prescriptions for alcoholic liquors and drugs about a year ago, following complaint that he was exercising his privileges too loosely.

With Mrs. Mathilda Zember, a nurse at his private hospital in Easthampton, who is held on a similar charge and also on a charge of being an accessory, Dr. Sparks is still locked up at police headquarters because of inability to produce two bondsmen and $10,000 bail. Miss Zember is held in the same amount.

Gold Seals on Nichols' Bids to Inaugural

Have you received your invitation to the inaugural of Mayor-elect Malcolm E. Nichols?

The invitations are engraved and bear embossed gold seals of the city and a likeness of Mr. Nichols.

Not for years have inaugural invitations been so elaborate. Four thousand were printed by the city printing plant and have been mailed.

The exercises will take place in Symphony Hall on January 1 at 10 a. m.

RED GRANGE IN HOSPITAL

Danville, Ill., Dec. 15 (I.N.S.)—"Red" Grange's march toward the million dollar goal line, via professional football and the movies, came to a halt, temporarily at least, today when Dr. Elmer B. [illegible] after examination of the red head's left arm, injured in a game in Pittsburgh last week, entered him as a patient in Lake View Hospital.

WOMAN OF 47 CHALLENGES 'ELEO'

Springfield Walker, Once an Invalid, Says Weather and Distance Won't Bother

prone to lose nothing that the cure brought to me.

"If Miss Sears accepts my challenge, she can make the distance whatever she likes. If she sets a date, I want it understood that the walking match will be held on that date, regardless of weather conditions, blizzards or anything else.

"I understand that Miss Sears had set two previous dates for her walk from Providence, then called it off because of bad weather. That is the only thing about her feat that doesn't seem to me exactly sporting.

"Let's set the date and have the race on that date, whether weather or not.

"My main reason for making the walk to Canada was because of my eyes. My seventeen operations had weakened me fearfully and I felt it particularly in my eyes, so I decided on making my appeal to St. Anne.

"On the first day, when I was very weak, I covered but five miles, but each day I seemed to grow stronger, and on three days I covered more than forty miles, and that without any special effort.

"I was completely cured, and my gratitude to the saint has forced me to keep myself in the condition which she granted me."

BACK IN TREADMILL OF SOCIAL WORK

Today Eleo Sears fits neatly in dress shoes of satin, and hikes in a limousine on an endless round of calls.

Yesterday her brogues banged the pavement 47 miles to home from Providence.

And tight bandages were in the place of the filmy silk stockings worn today.

By MAXINE McBRIDE.

At 11 o'clock yesterday morning the brownstone Sears mansion at No. 122 Beacon street was lined with watchful waiters to see a wind-tossed, sport-attired "Eleo" sprint up the steps after her victorious 47-mile trek from Providence to Boston.

At 11 o'clock this morning a daintily garbed and sedate "Eleo" tripped down the same brownstone steps and after a few minutes' gay chat whirled away in a luxurious limousine to launch out on a heavy day's calendar of social engagements.

"Am I tired?" laughed the energetic Miss Sears. "Not a bit of it."

"I feel as fit and fine as I did before starting. Remember it was 47 long miles, not 44, but I feel no after effects at all.

"In fact, I could start in and do it all over again. Training is the thing, and I have had plenty of that. I've taken plenty of long-distance jaunts before, and although 47 miles are no mean amount to cover under fifteen hours, I was confident it could be done."

"Collect on the bet? You can lay your bets that I will!

"I think that everything we staked ought to be coming to me. All that the wager was worth? Now, don't you?"

We agreed that it should—doubled; yea, tripled.

And "Eleo," a modish, slim silhouette of fashion—from her high-crowned, black satin hat to her fur-bordered bolivia cloak, down to the graceful, pointed pumps that replaced the stout hiking "47-milers"—beamed in triumph.

A monogrammed hand case was placed in the car, a half-dozen small parcels, and she hopped blithely within.

"Adieu," she called back with a wave of the hand. "Sorry I can't stop, but I'm late now for my appointment."

JUDGE AHERN WINS CHILD

contractor. Mrs. Ahern died shortly after the birth of the little girl and the daughter was brought to live with her mother's sisters, Josephine and Mary Cavanagh.

Last June Judge Ahern married a second time, his bride being Gertrude Cotter Winthrop, New York school teacher.

In September of the same year the justice filed his plea in the Supreme Court, saying the aunts kept the child in their Summer home at Scituate and would not allow him to see her.

The aunts retorted that they were not imprisoning the child, but that she had lived with them so long that she wished to continue with them. They charged that Judge Ahern had attempted to abduct the child from the Scituate cottage.

Attorney Lothrop Withington appeared for the aunts in court today, and his only plea was that they might be allowed to see the child whom they had grown to love.

He said he did not wish to go through the formality of asking the court to issue an order to this effect as he was confident that Judge Ahern would see the justice of the aunt's plea.

Attorney John P. Feeney, counsel for Judge Ahern, said in return that his client would do the right thing without having a club swung over his head."

MAN WHO "RODE" COW TO CONGRESS IS DEAD

Buffalo, N. Y., Dec. 15 (A.P.)—Peter A. Porter, whose name has long been associated with Niagara frontier history, died today.

He gained nation-wide attention when he defeated James W. Wadsworth, Sr., in a congressional election, running on an independent ticket and using the cow as his campaign emblem. It was said thereafter that he "rode into Congress on a cow." He was 72 years old.

MRS. ROGERS PUT ON THREE COMMITTEES

Washington, Dec. 15 (A.P.)—Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers, Republican member of the House from Massachusetts, today was assigned to these committees:

World war veterans, expenditures in the Navy Department, Industrial Arts and Women's Suffrage.

CROOK, ON TOUR, POINTS OUT 4 OF HIS VICTIMS

After riding around handcuffed in a police automobile and pointing out four stores he said he had robbed, John P. Hornley of Humbolt avenue, Roxbury, was returned to Rorbury Court today and pleading guilty to four of eight charges of breaking and entering. He was held in $20,000 bail for the grand jury.

Hornley was arrested by Patrolman Shelburne in a store owned by Mrs. Sadie Aaronson, at No. 553 Warren street, Roxbury.

The police immediately charged him with having broken into and robbed seven other stores. He admitted four breaks.

Hornley was out on parole, having served 2½ years of a five-year sentence for breaking and entering.

PRETTY GIRL IS HELD AS BAD CHECK USER

Young Woman Accused of Defrauding Stores Dazed by Charge in Courtroom

Arrested on a charge of forging and uttering a long string of checks on Illinois banks, Catherine Blume, twenty-three, and pretty, now of Illinois, but formerly of Commonwealth avenue, Boston, was so bewildered by the gravity of the charge brought against her in Municipal Court today that she could hardly explain her alleged system of cashing the checks.

She finally pleaded guilty to having both forged and passed the checks on various department stores.

She said she always made a purchase and then presented a check calling for more cash than the purchase price of the article.

So far the police charge they have found checks totaling $169, but declare they believe her thefts will amount to a much larger sum. Her case was postponed until next week pending further investigation.

G. O. P. ACCEPTS LA FOLLETTE INTO FOLD

Wisconsin Senator Will Follow in the Footsteps of His Father as "Progressive"

Washington, Dec. 15 (A.P.)—Undeterred by a warning that he would follow an "independent course" in furtherance of the policies of his father, the Republican members of the Senate today formally accepted Senator Robert M. LaFollette into the Republican fold, from which the elder La Follette had been excluded.

In a letter to Chairman Watson of the Republican committee on committees, which voted him committee assignments as a Republican, the young Wisconsin Senator said he wanted a clear understanding of his attitude before such assignments were made definite.

The platform on which he was elected, said La Follette, was the same on which the elder La Follette, read out of the party just before his death, was elected to the Senate for the last time in 1922. During his service here, the Senator's letter continued, he would "adhere to the letter and spirit of the platform upon which I was elected and follow the independent course which I have marked out for myself."

LOWELL MEN ARRAIGNED

Two more arraignments of city officials of Lowell were made in Middlesex Superior Court today after indictments were returned by the Grand Jury which has been investigating the charges of graft.

Frank P. MacNeil, owner of the Chelmsford Iron Works and election commissioner of Lowell, was charged with three counts of larceny from the city of Lowell, one of $1,100, another of $350, and the third of $500.

George Budd of the bridge engineers' office was charged with conspiring with MacNeil to commit the same larcenies.

They pleaded not guilty before Judge Flynn and were given a week in which to change their pleas. Each was held in $1,000.

MacNeil had been indicted on another count together with Mayor Donovan of Lowell and other city officials.

KEVILLE NAMED BY COOLIDGE FOR MARSHAL

Recess Appointee's Name Is Sent to the Senate for Regular Term

William J. Keville, who was given a recess appointment to succeed himself as United States Marshal for the Massachusetts district last May, was named today by President Coolidge in a regular appointment which he sent to the Senate along with a number of others for confirmation.

Among the others was Alfred J. Chretien, as United States Marshal for New Hampshire. Several new Federal attorneys, collectors and postmasters were also on the list.

Colonel Keville was first appointed marshal in March, 1921. He is a veteran of the Spanish War and the World War, having been in command of the 26th Division ammunition train in France. He is forty-seven years old, married, and lives in Belmont.

Walter A. Kilton was named for postmaster at Providence, R. I. Other nominations for postmasters include: Keene, N. H., Ben O. Aldrich; Nashua, N. H., George E. Danforth; Rutland, Vt., Charles H. West.

E. I. Lewis of Indiana was nominated for another term as a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Other nominations are:

To be judge advocate general of the Navy with rank of rear-admiral: Captain Edward H. Campbell.

To be engineer in chief and chief of the Bureau of Engineering, rank of rear-admiral: Captain John Halligan, Jr.

To be paymaster general and chief of the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts, rank of rear admiral, Pay Director Charles Morris.

A. A. R. I. R. TO DISCUSS BOUNDARY PACT SUNDAY

The "dismemberment" of Ireland under the terms of the Boundary Treaty will be the topic of discussion at the mass meeting to be held by the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic at Fanuel Hall Sunday afternoon.

Daniel Doherty, first vice-president of the association, will preside at the monster meeting. Other speakers will be Dr. James T. Gallagher, Dr. Joseph F. Tynan, Daniel Foley and John P. Sullivan. Messages from President De Valera and the Sean T. O'Ceallaigh, "United States Envoy of the Irish Republic," will be read at the meeting.

FIRE SWEEPS VERMONT AUTO SERVICE PLANT

Bennington, Vt., Dec. 15 (A.P.)—Fire that caused a loss of approximately $20,000 destroyed the plant of the Auto-Electric Service, owned by J. Ed White, drove two families from their homes and destroyed five automobiles. The fire was caused when a furnace overloaded with soft coal blew out. For seven hours under severe weather conditions the firemen fought and saved several dwelling houses within a few feet of the burning structure. The loss was partially covered by insurance.

BATTLING SIKI FOUND SLAIN IN NEW YORK

that he was slain after a row in a night club.

An autopsy performed at the morgue by Dr. Charles Norris, chief medical examiner, showed the pugilist had been suffering from adhesive pleurisy and general anaemia.

An examination of Siki's body showed that he had been shot twice from the rear. One of the bullets had penetrated the pugilist's left lung and another had lodged in his kidneys.

PICTURESQUE RING STAR

Dr. Basaloa said that Siki had died of an internal hemorrhage. Siki's wife was notified and she went to the police station, where she identified the body.

While last July the Senegalese was struck down with a knife in the same spot where his body was found today.

He was unconscious from loss of blood and for a time his recovery was in doubt, his wound having become infected.

Battling Siki won the light heavyweight championship of the world, together with several French titles, when he knocked out Georges Carpentier, in the sixth round of a match in Paris, September 24, 1922. His sensational rise to pugilistic fame, however, was followed by a storm which rocked French boxing circles for several months.

PICTURESQUE RING IDOL.

Siki, a picturesque figure of the Montmartre section of Paris who boasted that he trained for his bouts on wine and "high life," was in the midst of receiving a deluge of fabulous offers for fights in England, the United States and elsewhere when a ringside brawl resulted in his suspension by the French Boxing Federation for three months.

Subsequently he created another sensation by charging that the fight with Carpentier had been "fixed," but that he "double-crossed" Georges after undergoing a change of heart during the contest.

Carpentier and his manager, Descamps, vigorously denied the charges and official investigation failed to substantiate them, although the referee voiced his belief that the bout was a frame-up.

Meanwhile Siki had been deprived by French authorities of the titles he won from Carpentier and was in disfavor in the United States and England, where projected matches in which he was to appear were barred. Carpentier's repeated efforts to obtain a return match failed until recently it was announced the pair had agreed to fight again next September in Paris.

Siki Had Colorful Career as Ring Idol

New York, Dec. 15 (I.N.S.)—Battling Siki, found slain in this city today, has had probably the most colorful career of any man who adopted the ring as a profession. He was born in St. Louis, Senegal, French West Africa, September 16, 1897, and early in life deserted his job of bottle washer to battle in the roped arena.

His exploits were incredibly amusing. He always entertained the crowd once he was in the ring. He seemed to take his fights as a joke, and often went into battle after having trained on the choicest wines and liquors.

He achieved his greatest fame when he won the light heavyweight championship of the world by knocking out Georges Carpentier. He lost this title later to Mike McTigue of Ireland.

In Paris after his victory over Carpentier, he visited all the American bars and attempted to pay for drinks all around to strangers, including Americans, many of whom refused. The French resented this action on Siki's part after he had toppled their idol.

On another occasion in Havana he leaped out of a hotel window. When picked up by passersby, he smilingly remarked:

"I am Siki, the great battler."

Siki was bitten by a lion cub in Marseilles, France, just before he was to fight the British middleweight, Moore, but he went on with the battle.

In the United States he frequently got into trouble with the police and was locked up on numerous occasions. He went "broke" a dozen times, but recouped his fortunes each time.

Siki was married twice, his second wife being Lillian Werner, a white girl.

Siki had only eight cents in his pocket when found slain. He wore no jewelry. Police scout the theory that he was murdered by thugs.

Carpentier Sees Lesson for Others in Siki's Fate

Paris, Dec. 15 (A.P.)—Georges Carpentier, who was toppled from his light heavyweight championship throne in 1922 by Battling Siki, expressed regret today upon learning of the tragic death of the Senegalese fighter in New York.

"It seems a pity," said Carpentier, "that an athlete of such magnificent gifts should have met with this end. The time has passed when boxers can indulge in drink and carousing and be champions. I only hope poor Siki's fate will be a lesson to other aspiring pugilists."

Here's the Man to Put on the Crosswords

Paris, Dec. 15 (A.P.)—Louis Loucheur, Minister of Finance, besides having the reputation of being the wealthiest man in France, is regarded as the most versatile and impulsive financial expert in the country.

"How did you ever get along with Loucheur, when he was one of your ministers," was asked of ex-Premier Clemenceau.

The old statesman replied: "Loucheur and I always got along fine. In the most difficult situations I would ask him for the solution of a knotty problem and within fifteen minutes he would return with three or four."

ELOQUENT BOY MOVES JURY TO FREE HIM

Youth Charged With Theft in Malden Acts as Own Lawyer

Acting as his own lawyer and making a stirring appeal to a jury, William S. Hunter, nineteen years old, of Boston, charged with breaking and entering a house in Malden, gained a verdict of not guilty today in East Cambridge Superior Court.

The prosecution stated that Bruce Lounsbury of Malden found Hunter sitting in a chair in the kitchen mumbling a girl's name. He had entered through an open window Around his waist was part of a clohtesline and some clothing.

"Do you want to say anything for yourself?" asked Judge Flynn,

"Yes, your honor," replied Hunter in a firm voice, and he then told of having quarreled with his sweetheart, and later taking several drinks at a friend's house, after which he knew nothing until he awoke in the police station in Malden.

"If Mr. oLunsbury heard me muttering a girl's name I suppose it was 'Katy' — that's my sweetheart's name," he explained.

"I ask no lniency for a crime committed. All I want is the treatment that you would give to any man who was temporarily insane and did what I have done.

"The clothes I had taken from somewhere, I don't know where, were practically worthless. I did not intend to commit larceny in the Lounsbury house. Perhaps I thought I was going into my girl's house. I don't know.

"I have everything before me, including a sweet girl who is to be my wife. And I have a mother with two other children whom I have to support. Do you think the few dollars that I might have got in that house would have induced me to steal?"

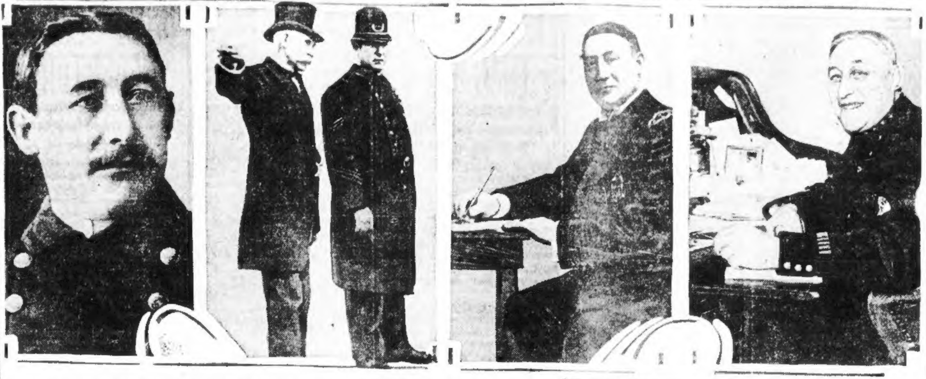
Bath, Me., Dec. 15 (A.P.).—Coleman Flaherty, eighty-four, rescued from a fire in his home by Joseph P. Gillo, died later from burns.

SMILED HIS WAY FROM 'COP' TO SUPERINTENDENT



Above is a series of pictures which shows the evolution of Michael H. Crowley, who in 1890 was a plain cop; in 1907, a sergeant; in 1910, brevetted with the shoulder straps of a captain, and today, still smiling on the job after 37 years of spotless public service, superintendent of "Boston's Finest."

Superintendent of Police, Michael H. Crowley, has begun his thirty-eighth year on the Boston police force, smiling as he has smiled through the thirty-seven years of service he has just rounded out.

"Mike" Crowley, as he is known affectionately, not only to the members of the department, but to thousands of Boston residents, has always faced life smilingly, a gentleman unafraid.

It was on December 13 that Superintendent Crowley joined the Boston police force, and his first assignment was at Station 9, in Roxbury.

After a short time he was transferred to the East Dedham station, No. 5, where he remained for several years. While there he was for a time on the back of one of the horse-drawn patrol wagons.

Promoted to be sergeant, he went to the Joy street station, where he distinguished himself on many occasions. One of the most important cases he worked on was that of Chester Jordan, brother-in-law of Jesse Livermore, boy stockbroker, who killed his wife, an actress.

Promoted to lieutenant, he went to the Hanover street station, and when he was named captain he was assigned to Fields Corner, Dorchester. He was there only a short while when he was appointed Superintendent by the late Stephen O'Meara, then commissioner of police. This was in February of 1915.

In 1919 Superintendent Crowley went through one of the most difficult times a police head ever has been called upon to undergo; the Boston police strike.

DR. PROBST IS GIVEN 4 YEARS

Dr. Charles J. Probst of Allston was sentenced to serve from four to five years in State Prison by Judge Bishop in Suffolk Superior Court today for larceny from investors in the Florida Sales Company, which he conducted, with offices on Milk street.

Before he was sentenced it was revealed in court that Probst was deported to Germany in June, 1922, after an indictment chraging grand larceny was found against him in New York city. He returned under an assumed name.

He had been previously sentenced in the Municipal Court to a term of [illegible] months and a half, but he appealed.

FIVE PERISH IN NEW YORK FIRE

New York, Dec. 15 (A.P.).—Four women and one man lost their lives and five others were injured early today in a fire that destroyed a five-story tenement in East 14th street. Three of the women died on the top floor, while the other woman and the man were trapped in a third-floor hallway.

While firemen were fighting the East 14th street blaze, fire starting under like circumstances threatened the tenants of a tenement in East 16th street, about three blocks away. Both fires started in the ground-floor hallways and swept to the top of the buildings.

The tenants who lost their lives in East 14th street were: Mrs. Ellen Fogarty, forty-five; Mrs. Agnes Silcox, Mrs. Elizabeth Murphy, thirty; Mrs. Agnes Masterson, forty-five, and John Murphy, thirty-five, husband of Elizabeth Murphy. The Murphys died in a third-floor hallway, while the bodies of the three other victims were found on the top floor. It is believed the fires were of incendiary origin.

APARTMENT THUG IS GIVEN 10 TO 18 YEARS

John Rogers, colored, was sentenced to the State prison today by Judge Bishop in the superior criminal court to serve ten to eighteen years for breaking and entering dwellings and apartment houses.

His Sixteenth Term

James T. Moriarity, City Councillor, has been elected business agent for the Sheet Metal Workers' Union No. 17, for the 16th consecutive year.

NANCE O'NEIL SUPERB AT NEW PARK

Star Lifts "Stronger Than Love" to Heights; Supporting Cast Is Good

By NICHOLAS YOUNG

THOSE writing Latins do have a way of telling a hard story well—even at a great waste of words. With these [illegible] continuously presenting themselves through the first and half of the second act of "Stronger Than Love" at the New Park, it seemed hardly fair to Nance O'Neil to hold in check while the author, Sig. Dario Niccodemi, took his time in the posing of incidental matters.

However, when the play warmed up to its real purpose Miss O'Neil found herself on familiar ground—a suffering woman, bound to sorrow, self torture and what not and dragging the whole family into the mother's misery.

You always may be sure of solemn times in the drama with Miss O'Neil. As far back as memory goes she has interested us in her art, and often has thrilled us with the power of her acting; she has been a good actress—at times venturing closely to greatness. But she has never made us smile.

ONE BIG CLIMAX.

In that respect "Stronger Than Love" held Miss O'Neil in the old and sombre grasp; she wrung her hands as only a woman can who is cherishing a burning, dreadful secret. But out of the story came flashes of excellent humor, quips and sallies that made the companion players seem more real and more human.

Torn by the love for her natural son and hatred for a lad that believed he was her son, and who really loved his foster mother, there were moments when you were touched with the thought that the author was a bit sparing in opportunities—perhaps a bit too thrifty, for the material fairly cried for bigger scenes.

You got just one that measured up to the Nance O'Neil standard—and it closed the second act with Marius demanding the truth from his mother and begging her love. She gave him the truth, which didn't turn out as he had expected, and then came a whirling, emotional outburst that sounded like old times.

FORBES IS SUPERB.

Miss O'Neil does possess that rare gift of making trouble and anguish seem real, and she utilized it with glowing effect as the story opened up and revealed the unhappy Anna beset with conflicting passions. Her performance was flawless.

Also, out of the evening came another shining light in [illegible] Forbes, whose Marius was the best piece of sustained and gripping acting seen there [illegible] in many months. He had a man's sized job to do and filled it completely.

Katharine Grey, as the aged Countess de Bernois, added a touch of refreshing humor to the play, and Frederick Perry made the Monseigneur de Bernois a very human churchman. Vincent Sternroyd and Zola Talma brought good acting into small parts.

In the detail of production, "Stronger Than Love" was superbly mounted. Its scenic venture was rich in beauty and complete to the last necessary item.

KEITH-ALBEE HOUSE HAS NEW DRESSING ROOMS

Instead of being "the latest from Paris," the very newest [illegible] is "the latest from Boston." [illegible] is not a [illegible]; it is a [illegible].

The [illegible] dressing rooms has been discarded [illegible] St. James Theatre [illegible] next Monday. At the [illegible] "[illegible]ny" [illegible] instead bear the names of [illegible] cities in which Keith-Albee houses are located.

So when the [illegible] summon [illegible] be told [illegible] 8," but "[illegible] York"—[illegible]. One of the [illegible] rooms is [illegible] ton."

IBSEN COMEDY DRAMA TO BE AT REPERTORY

The matinee at the Repertory Theatre this afternoon will be devoted to a [illegible] comedy drama "The Wild Duck," with Blanche Yurka [illegible]. This is in response to the demand from the many who were unable to procure seats the latter part of last week. "The Wild Duck" will also be given Thursday afternoon.

The holiday bill at the Repertory Theatre will consist of a Christmas play especially for children, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," dramatized from Grimm's fairy tale. It will be acted on Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons, and Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, with Peg Entwistle in the role of Snow White.

HE'S A VERY COY, WINSOME MAID

Irresistibly funny in every denouement in "The Man On The Box," at the Metropolitan this week, Syd Chaplin reaches the climax of mirth in his excruciating impersonation of a French maid, named "Pansy," afflicted with a rough neck complex.

'BUCK' JONES IN EASTERN ROLE

There's a brand new job for the rugged Charles "Buck" Jones in the current New [illegible] Fox feature "Lazybones." The rural East and not the golden West forms the changed background and the boots, spurs, Stetson and all the other duffle of the cowboy give place to the less gay attire of the clodhopper.

"Lazybones" is a fine picture, but "Buck" Jones in his characterization of the easy-going village loafer is an entertainment all by himself. The indolent "Steve" for all his lazy nature is a most lovable fellow, who adopts somebody's unwanted baby girl and rears her in his ramshackle country home.

The World War is worked in successfully but not in the melodramatic manner of the average movie. Steve, as a soldier, runs true to form and falls luxuriantly and fast asleep in the midst of the fray. He dreams of his beloved trout brook and wakes suddenly to find that his gun had gone off by accident, thus inducing twenty of the enemy to throw up their hands.

The surprised hero returns home to find himself famous and the old home brightly burnished under the more efficient ministrations of his now grown up "niece." The hero role is too much to sustain and Steve returns to his old ways unspoiled and unsoiled.

BUSTER KEATON AT STATE

A well balanced program of comedy and drama was presented at Loew's State Theatre. The comedy feature of the bill showed the [illegible] Buster Keaton in a [illegible] drama, "Go West." Although [illegible] for laughing [illegible], "Go West" has a thread of pathos and a dramatic sweep that [illegible] a new note in feature comedies.

Keaton takes the part of a young man who leaves the old home town and arrives in the West. Despite his treatment in the hands of the [illegible] the newly made cowboy, [illegible] the aid of one "Brown Eyes" [illegible] now turns the tables on his tormentors, becomes a hero and [illegible].

The dramatic end of the program [illegible] "Time, the Comedian," with Mae Busch and Lew Cody in the leading roles. It is a [illegible] of the [illegible] of life, of fleeting dreams and moments of great happiness.

Week's Features

MODERN—"The Splendid Crime" with Bebe Daniels and Neil Hamilton, and "The Wedding Song," with Leatrice Joy and Robert Ames.

BOWDOIN SQ.—Charles Chaplin in "The Gold Rush," also "The Ancient Highway" and "Dangerous Curves Behind."

HOWARD—(Burlesque) [illegible] Revue, with a wrestling carnival.

WALDRON'S — (Burlesque) "The Burlesque Carnival," with Walter Brown as chief comedian.

BEACON—Bebe Daniels in "The Splendid Crime" and Leatrice Joy in "The Wedding Song."

UNUSUAL BILL WINS FAVOR AT KEITH'S

Vaudeville Program Is of Highest Excellence in Every Feature This Week

"The Marvelous Lockfords" head Keith's Theatre bill this week and they are just that, marvelous. Even if they were the only act on the bill, the show would be worth seeing. The Paul Tisen Orchestra furnishes them the music and in themselves are headliners. Bert Lahr with Mercedes kept the house in an uproar of genuine laughter as a cop, in "What's the Idea."

Charles Ruggles and his company also proved a hit in his new comedy, "Wives, Etc." And far from least among the hearty laughs were those provided by Irene Ricardo in "Whoa Pagliacci." A roller skating classic with Sandy Lang and Company led the more serious part of the entertainment while Rebla in the Unconcerned Juggler, Billy Lytell and Tom Fant in "Two Chocolate Cake Eaters, Mehlinger and Williams in "Teacher and Pupil," and the Zelda Brothers in aerial frolics, rounded out a programme of unusual excellence.

JOSEF HOFMANN TO REPEAT HIS NEW YORK PROGRAM

Josef Hofmann, who plays at Symphony Hall tomorow evening, will repeat a program in which he was heard recently in New York, when he received one of the greatest ovations ever accorded an artist at Carnegie Hall, scene of so many triumphs. The critics outdid each other in praise of the great pianist, one of them referring to Mr. Hofmann as the greatest pianist since Rubinstein.

Hofmann, who has been devoting most of his time to teaching, makes comparatively rare appearances on the concert stage, and his concert tomorrow night will be his only one in Boston for the season.

LUCKY SAMBO IS BIG HIT

"Wow! What a show!" A composite report of the laudatory exclamations of playgoers leaving the Gayety Theatre, would result in the foregoing enthusiastic phrase. The show is "Lucky Sambo," a new all-negro offering.

Julia Moody caught her audience by the ears with her fine "blues" songs. Billy Higgins proved a dry and unctuous comedian, and was aided in his fun scenes by Joe Byrd, Arthur Porter and James Watts.

Three Dixie Songbirds, feminine singers, and the Lucky Sambo Four, vocal group, won encores innumerable.

Jim Vaughan and His Jazz Hounds, twelve instrumentalists, kept syncopated strains pouring forth. The Black Diamond speed chorus of 18 girls and eight boys who step the Charleston, collegiate and other late dances with lightning-like rapidity, rounded out the cast.

MERRY WIDOW AT ORPHEUM

Eric von Stroheim's film version of "The Merry Widow," shown at [illegible] Theatre, is a splendid piece of film workmanship. The [illegible] taking drama, in[illegible] human comedy ever seen on the screen. Mae Murray, always a favorite with picture [illegible] a distinct triumph in the title role.

John Gilbert, who plays Prince Danilo, also shows a dash and vivacity which earns him many sincere admirers.

The vaudeville program is topped by "The Star of Fashion," featuring Jean Barrios in an offering of melody, song and charm.

Coming Events

"Applesauce," a spirited comedy, will come to the Plymouth next Monday.

E. H. Sothern in "Accused," will take the stage at the Wilbur next Monday.

"Sweetheart Time," a new musical comedy, will open a local engagement at the Majestic on Christmas night.

"The Mannequin," a Fannie Hurst story, will be the film feature at the Metropolitan next week.

"Robinson Crusoe," a play written by Roger Wheeler of Newtonville, and E. E. Clive, will be given at the Copley next week.

Jackie Coogan in "Old Clothes," is announced as the film feature at the State next week.

Jimmie Gallagher and his Checker Inn Orchestra will fill a week at Loew's Orpheum starting next Monday.

"Keeper of the Bees" will be shown at the Fenway for a week, starting next Saturday.

CHALIAPIN TO LEAD OWN OPERA COMPANY ON TOUR

New York, Dec. 15 (A.P.)—Feodor Chaliapin, Russian basso, singing with the Metropolitan Opera Company and the Chicago Civic Opera Company, will organize his own grand opera company for a tour of the United States during 1926-27, it was announced by his manager, S. Hurok, managing director of Universal Artists, Inc.

SYD CHAPLIN IS FUNNIER THAN EVER

In Metropolitan Feature Film; "The Degas Ballet" Is Entrancingly Beautiful

The oft repeated phrase, "funnier than Charlie's Aunt" is a frequently bestowed encomium on the type of comedy that enjoys an uncommon appeal to the funny one. If you enjoyed Syd Chaplin's pictured version of that perennial farce, the foregoing quotation may be freely applied to his latest release, "The Man on the Box," now at the Metropolitan.

Judged by any standard, the present picture stands head and shoulders over its predecessor and its bounding hilarity and ingeniously contrived "gags" provide Syn with the best role of his career—a "fat" part that fits him to perfection.

Once more the farcical female impersonation occurs and with even more telling effect, which shows that Syd has hit upon a comedy device that makes him shine in his own right as a film star without one beam of reflected glory from his distinguished brother Charlie.

As Bob Warburton, an artist of sorts with a true eye for beauty, he leaves home and job to hire himself out as a servant in the family of a fair lady who has caught his eye. As the butler, "Goldfish"—that's the name he selects for his new duties—and, subsequently "Pansy," the maid, the complications develop with a speed that never slackens until the end.

In the stage presentation, "The Degas Ballet," there is a beautiful showing of the ballet art to the accompaniment of some Franz Liszt music. John Barclay, English baritone, also appears in his impersonation of a series of opera characters, including Boris Goudonoff and Mephistopheles. He concludes with an impressive rendition of Kipling's "Danny Dever."

Continuing Shows

TREMONT—Leon Errol in "Louie the 14th," a merry musical concoction of color and beauty.

CASTLE SQ.—"Abie's Irish Rose." Comedy as you find it in every day life.

COLONIAL—"Lady Be Good." Musical comedy, featuring Walter Catlett and the Astaires.

MAJESTIC—Greenwich Village Follies. Musical revue, with all the frolic that goes with it.

WILBUR—George Arliss in "Old English." An engrossing Galsworthy drama.

TREMONT TEMPLE—De Forest Phonofilms. Something new and interesting in talking pictures.

SHUBERT—"The Student Prince." Operetta of the kind that calls for encores.

ENTER MADAME IS SUCCESS AT REPERTORY

Blanche Yurka Exceptionally Well Suited to Play Leading Role

The throbbing heart of the artistic temperament, its egoisms and deceits, its joys and pains, its defeats and victories—all achieve sympathetic understanding, and a faithful portrayal in the Repertory Theatre's production of Gilda Varesi's delightfully sophisticated comedy, "Enter Madame."

It needs the brightest of superlatives to describe the performance of Blanche Yurka as the high-strung opera diva, Madame Robbia, ever the artiste, ever the woman. Certainly, it is a happy coincidence that Miss Yurka was formerly an opera singer and, therefore, able to bring to the role an added ring of sincerity; when, in her sudden moments of high spirits, she bursts into a lilting aria, the audience hears real singing.

The cast is excellent without exception. Lenore Chippendale as the phlegmatic Mrs. Preston, provides a sharp contrast to the brilliancies of Madame and is hopelessly outclassed from the start in her attempts on the affections of the ever romantic Gerald.

Arthur Behrens as the harassed husband has a hard time of it in winning back his temperamental wife. The greatly developed feminine arts of his fair spouse is trial enough for the stoutest nerves, but the added handicap of a moralist son is, at times, almost too much to bear.

But Madame is well worth the winning and it is a happy Gerald who resignedly departs for the South American elopement—lap dog and all.

WAR FARCE AT COPLEY IS PLEASING

Cast Exceptionally Able and Humor Is of Splendid Variety

The rich humor of Max Marcin's and Frederic Isham's "Three Live Ghosts" loses none of its delightful comedy as given by the company presenting the war-time farce at the Copley Theatre this week.

An exceptionally able cast headed by May Ediss and E. E. Clive carries the play through three rollicking acts of splendid humor. The supporting cast is a well chosen group, attaining easily the high mark of perfection set by the principals.

Too much can not be said for Miss Ediss' portrayal of Mrs. Gubbins or of Mr. Clive as Jimmie Gubbins, her stepson.

Spoofy, the shell-shocked pal of Jimmie is excellently done by Alan Mowbray as is the part of William Foster, the third of the "live ghosts," by Richard Whorf. The trio, officially reported as having been killed in action, but very much alive, form the basis of the plot which wends its joyful though obviously inevitable way towards the consummation of the love affairs of Jimmie with Miss Woofers, by Katherine Standing, and Foster with Rose Gordon, by Ruth Holmes, and returns Spoofy to his pre-war status as a member of the titled upper class.

The incidental roles, those of an American detective and a member of Scotland Yard furnish an admirable thrill to the production and the work of Victor Tandy and C. Wordley Hulse as sleuths does much to enhance the play.

FLORIDA KLAN WATCHES FOR KIP'S WIFE

Hotels and Stations Guarded; Kluxers to Oust Her if She Appears

West Palm Beach, Fla., Dec 15 (A.P.)—Vigorous search of hotels and rooming houses by members of a secret organization here today failed to reveal any trace of Alice Rhinelander.

Rumors became current here shortly after midnight that the woman had fled to West Palm Beach from Fort Pierce, where reports were made that she had been forced to leave that city hurriedly after registering at a hotel.

Fort Pierce, Fla., Dec. 15 (A.P.)—Unrobed men, said to be Knights of the u Klux Klan, today were standing guard at the local railroad station to see that Alice Jones Rhinelander, negro bride of Leonard Kip Rhinelander, wealthy New Yorker, does not stop at Fort Pierce.

Dispatches were received stating that she might be on her way to Florida, and Fort Pierce was named as one of the possible points of her destination.

Immediately upon receiving the news, officers of the local Klan are said to have called a meeting and sent out committees to wait on the hotels. Visits were made to four, the registers scanned and the managers questioned as to the possible presence of the woman. On learning that she was not registered at any of them, the men gave the hotels warning that they must not permit her to become a guest.

A guard was then posted at the railroad station to keep a watch for her and to not permit her to stop here.

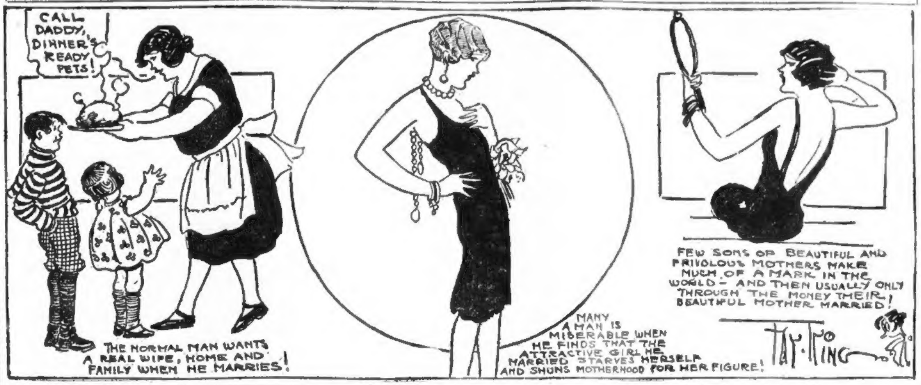
Jacobs Scoffs at Story That Kip Has Joined Alice

New York, Dec. 15 (A.P.)—A rumor that Leonard Kip Rhinelander had returned to his mulatto wife, Alice Beatrice Jones, was denied today by Leon P. Jacobs, New York attorney for Rhinelander. The report is one of several "wild" rumors that have been current since the jury in the Supreme Court in White Plains returned a verdict favorable to Mrs. Rhinelander.

"Why don't you fellows give me laughs during a trial when it would be appreciated?" asked Jacobs when he was told of the latest. "First they have Kip taking poison, then putting a bullet into his brain, next jumping into the river, and finally hanging himself and turning on the gas.

"Now rumor has him rejoining Alice. I know where he is, but I will not tell. The boy is entitled to a rest. You can deny as strong as you wish and quote me to the effect that there is not the slightest truth to this."

DON'T MARRY JUST CLOTHES, SAYS FAY KING



CALL DADDY, DINNER'S READY PETS!
THE NORMAL MAN WANTS A REAL WIFE, HOME AND FAMILY WHEN HE MARRIES!
MANY A MAN IS MISERABLE WHEN HE FINDS THAT THE ATTRACTIVE GIRL HE MARRIED STARVES HERSELF AND SHUNS MOTHERHOOD FOR HER FIGURE!
FEW SONS OF BEAUTIFUL AND FRIVOLOUS MOTHERS MAKE MUCH OF A MARK IN THE WORLD—AND THEN USUALLY ONLY THROUGH THE MONEY THEIR BEAUTIFUL MOTHER MARRIED!
FAY KING

By FAY KING.

It's quite natural that the well groomed, prettily gowned and well shod girl attracts the eye of man But when a man is contemplating matrimony, it is best that he should not be too much influenced by a marcelle wave and a trim figure, because such a girl sometimes thinks so much more of her looks and wardrobe, that she will starve herself and him, rather than enjoy a square meal and gain a pound.

Home making is apt to be a bit of a bore to her, and she prefers cold creams and crowds.

Children and responsibilities she looks upon as a menace to her beauty, and, once married to her a man is apt to find that he has taken on an ornament instead of a mate.

The normal man marries because he wants a real wife, a real home and a family he can be proud of What matters it if his wife grows a bit plump, if her disposition remains merry? Plain, plump wives have been the best homemakers, and the finest mothers.

You rarely hear of a great beauty having a son that makes a mark in the world. If he inherits her frivolity and pretty features, he is not equipped half so well for his battle with the world as the boy who inherits the strength, and health and character of a woman not so beautiful.

Some of our cleverest men have made the mistake of marrying frivolous, selfish, pretty women, and then they wonder why their sons are not so clever as they were or as the sons of some plain, hard working couple who achieves great things.

The men who have done most for the progress of the world have been born of plain, wholesome mothers.

A mother who lives for her children, feeding, clothing, watching over them herself, may be temporarily lost sight of, and seem a bit shoddy and submerged, but later on, when her sons and daughters make a mark in the world, the world pays her the deferred homage, and her very plainness, goodness, self sacrifice are glorified, more than the shallow beauty of show girls and selfish society dames.

Britain would be better off, says Garvin, if she didn't have to pay so many millions to America every year, while Britain's debtors pay her nothing. This means $400,000,000 to the bad for England.

MR. GARVIN ought to take George Harvey for a trip around the British Empire to look at her land, minerals, people, free and not free, all over the world, and especially get him to consider how easily the British brand of statesmanship puts the so-called statesmen of the United States into a deep hole. Such a trip would restore Harvey's cheerfulness about Britain's future.

You can't down intelligence and courage. The British have both.

SPEAKING of intelligence and courage, the Irish Free State intends to send a flying machine from Ireland across the ocean to the United States. More power to the plan.

Too bad St. Patrick can't see that ship start out. Once he stood on the west coast of Ireland "beyond which no man is." He was interested in miracles, performed many of them himself. But it never occurred to him that some day an Irishman would fly from that point "where no man is," three thousand miles across the ocean, to another point where many successful and useful Irishmen are.

RELICS DISCOVERED in Arizona would indicate, if genuine, that this planet was discovered by Jewish sailors seven hundred years before Columbus' day.

It isn't unlikely. Many do not realize that the Semitic race in the ancient days was the most daring and enterprising of all seafaring peoples.

The Phoenicians, Semitic, were the first to go out of sight of land, in days when there was no compass, first to sail through the "Pillars of Hercules" out into the Atlantic Ocean on to the tin mines of England and to all the wild northwestern region. They brought and sold to Solomon choice building materials for his temple.

IN RUSSIA, a young mother killed a baby that, according to the doctors, was doomed to lifelong idiocy and disease. One court sentenced her to eight years in jail. A higher court sets her free with compliments, saying she did what was best for the baby and for society.

DR. NELTZER, one of a million learned Germans, says that German public opinion is 119 as against 43 in favor of ending the lives of idiotic children. If such murders were made legal, it would be a shameful downward step for civilization. But it will not be made legal for long, in Germany, Russia or anywhere else.

Mrs. H. T. Robinson Dead

New York, Dec. 15 (A.P.)—Mrs. Henrietta Terry Robinson, widow of Bishop John E. Robinson of Bangalore, India, is dead in Bangalore. She was born in New York and educated in Rutgers Institute. With Dr. Robinson she carried on missionary work in India for thirty years.

BOSTON RADIO AMERICAN
VOICING THE GREAT DEMOCRACY OF THE AIR

Listen in tonight for the concert of the Boston Evening American Orchestra under the direction of Willam F. Dodge. The assistant soloist will be Genevieve Gansaneriat, soprano. This program will commence at 8:15 P. M. from Station WNAC.

LATEST 4 TUBE SET IS NAMED 'UNIVERSAL'

In selecting the Radio Broadcast "Universal" the aim has been to single out one particular circuit which from a standpoint of performance, simplicity and economy of construction and operation would meet the more rigid demands of amateur set-builders under any reasonable receiving conditions.

Every conceivable type of circuit worthy of consideration has been investigated under a wide variety of receiving conditions. It was found that some circuits had special advantages under certain conditions, but that the same features were impracticable under other conditions. The problem was, therefore, to find a circuit which would prove sufficiently reliable under all receiving conditions; in other words, a circuit which would be, as its name implies "Universal."

GOOD RECEIVER DESIGN.

In the search for the "Universal" receiver a circuit was brought to the attention of the laboratory staff of Radio Broadcast which seemed to embody all of the good qualities of receiver design.

The "Universal," first of all, is sensitive, yet not to the point where selectivity is impaired. While it is, indeed, not sufficiently selective to do the impossible, it is well suited to average urban conditions where many other circuits fail.

Having successfully solved the circuit problem with regard to the tuning combination every effort was made to attain the ultimate in quality reception. No one phase in modern broadcast reception is receiving more attention than quality of reception. This, too, is to a certain extent dependent upon conditions—involving the degree of quality expected, limits of the loud speaker in reproducing high and low tones, distance from broadcasting stations, number and type of tubes used, etc.

THE CIRCUIT.

The "Universal" circuit has a stage of balanced tuned radio frequency, a tuned detector with resistance control of sensitivity, and two stages of audio amplification. This type of circuit has proved in recent years to be very efficient and popular. A questionnaire sent out to 12,000 radio dealers scattered throughout the United States has proved conclusively that this type of circuit is the favorite by a large majority. The "Universal" has been adapted to the use of standard parts. A feature of the set is that any type of tube may be used without making any changes once the receiver is completed.

NEW TYPE SOCKETS.

This is made possible by the use of the new type of tube base which is now standard for all the new UX tubes. Separate B and C terminals are provided for the last audio stage so that the UX112 or UX120 tube may be used. Amperites are used to control the current of the two audio tubes automatically. The detector and radio frequency tubes are controlled by one rheostat, while an additional resistor in series with the radio frequency tube serves as a volume control.

Further information on this circuit will be published on the Radio Page of the Boston Evening American during the coming week. Save your papers for complete data.

SAILORS TURN FROM LEAF TO CIGARETTES

London, Dec. 15 (A. P.)—British sailors are turning from [illegible] leaf tobacco, soaked in rum and rolled up in twists, to the cigarette.

When the Prince of Wales made his recent voyage on the Repulse 1,300,000 cigarettes were sold, according to H. Kennedy, manager of the canteen. There were but two pipe smokers among the 1,200 men in the ship's company.

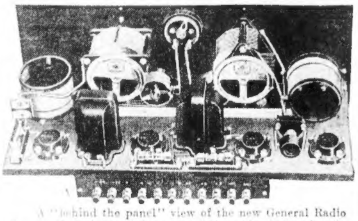
English Plum Pudding
Prepared by American Cookery
Chop fine one pound of beef suet, shave one-half pound of citron, roll one pound of currants and one pound of seeded raisins in one cup of flour sifted together with one teaspoonful and one-half of Stickney & Poor's Ground Nutmeg, one tablespoonful of Stickney & Poor's Mace, and one tablespoonful of Stickney & Poor's Cinnamon. Beat the yolks of six eggs; add four teaspoonfuls of cream and stir into the liquid five tablespoonfuls of brown sugar, three cups of grated bread, and one cup of fruit juice. Add the whites of six eggs, beaten dry, at the last. Turn into a buttered mold and steam six hours. Serve with hard sauce.

THE NEW "UNIVERSAL"



A "behind the panel" view of the new General Radio Universal receiver. This set was designed by Arthur Lynch, editor of Radio Broadcast Magazine. Most of the parts used are the product of the General Radio Company of Cambridge. This receiver is called the Universal, because it will accommodate any type of tube without necessity of changing the wiring of the set.

CHILDREN WILL CELEBRATE WITH RECTOR

By JAMES WALSH

The Rev. Philip J. O'Donnell, rector of St. James Church, Harrison avenue, known all over the country as "Father Phil," will be forty five years a priest on Friday. Following his annual custom, he intends to observe the occasion by having all the children of the parish receive holy communion at the 8 o'clock mass on that day.

Fr. O'Donnell was born in Boston in March, 1857, and attended the Boston public schools. After finishing at the Boston schools he studied at Nicolet College in Canada. Following his graduation from that institution of learning, he entered St. Mary's seminary at Baltimore, where he was ordained December 18, 1880.

The class with whic Fr. O'Connell graduated sent out many men who afterward became distinguished in the church. Some of the members included Bishop Monohan of Wilmington, Del.; Monsignors Foley and Holden of Baltimore, and the late Monsignor Edward A. Kelley of Chicago.

BEGAN IN HYDE PARK.

Father O'Donnell's first duties as a priest in the Boston archdiocese began at the Church of the Most Precious Blood, Hyde Park. Later he was transferred to the Church of the Sacred Heart, East Cambridge, serving there for ten years with the late Monsignor John O'Brien.

He was appointed first pastor of the newly established parish of St. Philip's, in the South End, in 1895. This parish was set aside from old St. Patrick's and first masses were celebrated and services held in the old brick structure in Northampton street, now the oldest Catholic Church in Massachusetts.

Father O'Donnell established the parish and purchased land at the corner of Harrison avenue and East Lenox street, erecting on the site one of the many beautiful Catholic churches in the archdiocese.

Although born in Boston, the popular priest has been one of the foremost leaders of the Irish movement in the United States, notably with the Ancient Order of Hibernians, Friends of Irish Freedom and many other organizations having for their object the freedom of Ireland. He maintains that Ireland practically is free today, and that within a comparatively short time will be an absolutely free and independent nation.

REV. PHILIP J. O'DONNELL

ENVOY TO IRELAND.

Fr. O'Donnell and Matthew Cummings, the latter at one time national president of the A. O. H., went from America as envoys to Ireland. This was in 1909. In this connection, it has been said by some Free Staters in this country and in Ireland that the visit of Fr. O'Donnell and Mr. Cummings marked the beginning of Ireland's true progress toward liberty. Both men had taken their pledge to work for Ireland a nation, and are continuing in that work.

"I am proud of the honor of being a priest for 45 years," said he to the Boston Evening American. "There is really nothing to say, except that I will observe the anniversary as I have for years, having my parish children receive Holy Communion at the 8 o'clock mass on that day. I thank Almighty God for all his goodness to me. That is all there is to it."

SAFETY FIRST FOR LITTLE WILLIE

Little Willie, sometimes called Bill, believes in Safety First. After beholding several beginners suffer more or less serious injuries, Willie resolved that there was no fun in learning to skate if one must get black and blue and risk broken bones during the experience. So he went home, brorowed two pillows from Ma and calculates to learn more quickly, as well as safely, than his chums.

SOMETHING NEW ABOUT SAUSAGES

THESE are days when we can indulge our taste for the appetizing sausage to the limit, providing always that we know something of the pedigree of our sausage. There is nothing much more dangerous than a sausage of questionable antecedents. Of course, I cannot mention trade names here, but if you will drop me a line I will be glad to tell you of a brand of sausages that is above suspicion.

What I can tell you here is a new way of cooking sausages with glazed apples that is above suspicion.

Recipe No. 1859

SAUSAGES WITH GLAZED APPLES.

Separate the links of sausage, wipe with a cloth and bake in a hot oven or cook in frying pan until brown and crisp.

Dissolve 1 cup sugar in 1 cup boiling water and boil 1 minute. Wash and core tart red Winter apples and cut in rings about ½ inch in thickness. Cook in the syrup until tender and transparent, being careful not to break them. Cook at a time only as many as can be done without crowding. Arrange sausages in a mound on a hot platter, and surround with rings of apple. Serve with corn bread or hot rolls.

And for the dressing for the Christmas turkey or goose, nothing is much more delicious than a sausage dressing made in this way:

Recipe No. 1860

POULTRY DRESSING.

Mix together 6 cups of stale bread crumbs, 1 pound sausage meat, 1 small onion finely chopped, 1 teaspoon poultry seasoning, 1½ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley, 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Moisten with water till it holds together. This is sufficient dressing for a 12-pound bird. Stuff the dressing lightly in.

Little sausage pies are extremely good on a cold day and are very easy to make:

Recipe No. 1861

SAUSAGE PIES.

Soak in cold water until soft 1¼ cups stale bread. Press dry in cheesecloth and rub through sieve. Add 1 pound sausage cakes, 2 tablespoons grated onion and 1-cup thick cream sauce. Mix well and put into custard cups lined with plain pastry. Cover each cup with a layer of pastry, making several cuts to permit steam to escape. Brush with melted butter and bake in a moderate oven 30 minutes.

And baked sausage with sweet potatoes are excellent, too:

Recipe No. 1862

BAKED SAUSAGE IN SWEET POTATOES.

Wash and peel sweet potatoes of uniform size. Remove the centres with an apple corer. Insert a sausage in each opening, place in baking dish and add ⅓ cup boiling water. Bake until the potatoes are tender.

CHIEF OF COAST ARTILLERY BACKS PLANES

Washington, Dec. 15 (I.N.S.).—The defence of Colonel William Mitchell scored at his court martial trial today when Major General Frank W. Coe, chief of coast artillery, declared that the best protection against an enemy air invasion would be American aircraft.

Coe was recalled by the prosecution to explain his previous testimony that "10,000 anti-aircraft guns could not adequately protect Washington."

"The best protection against hostile air craft is aircraft to sweep them out of the skies," said Coe.

"That number of guns could lay down an efficient barrage but hostile planes could probably break through at night."

PINCHOT CALLS CITY HEADS TO CONFER

Philadelphia, Dec. 15 (A.P.).—His two previous efforts having failed, Governor Pinchot has made another move for settlement of the hard coal strike. In addition to listing the anthracite controversy for consideration by the Legislature which he has called in extra session on January 13, the governor is to discuss the situation in Harrisburg tomorrow with executives of cities and villages in the anthracite region.

It was understood that one purpose of the meeting was the governor's desire to ascertain sentiment of the mining communities towards his action in submitting the controversy to the Legislature. In the call the governor indicated his intention of asking the Legislature to declare hard coal mining a public utility subject to control by the Public Service Commission.

With the suspension entering upon its fifteenth week today, there were reports of scattered cases of destitution among the idle miners and of shrinkage of deposits of banks in the anthracite region. At Edwardsville, near Wilkesbarre, soup kitchens have been opened and in some other communities a few cases of destitution have been reported.

The seven ages of man

EVEREADY Hour
at 9 P. M.
(Eastern Standard Time)
Tonight

EVERY period of life, from infancy to the evening years of age, has been imperishably inscribed in music.

Beginning with the cradle songs that mothers croon, through the music of childhood, of youth at school and college, of young love, marriage and maturity, Eveready singers and orchestra will portray life's progression.

BETTY ALDEN'S COMMENT ON SOCIETY

Miss Margaret Weld to Become Bride of Dr. Frank T. Hunter, Thursday

MISS RACHEL SMITH [illegible] kitchen orchestra at tomorrow [illegible] Long's [illegible] of 1925 staged at the Copley Plaza

THE MARRIAGE OF MISS Margaret Weld to Dr. Frank T. Hunter, of Tampa [illegible], is to be celebrated in the Edward Everett Hale Chapel at three in the afternoon of Thursday, a change from the original plans for a home wedding at the Weld town house in Marlborough street. Two little girls, Marian and Elizabeth M[illegible], nieces of the bride, are to be her sole attendants.

DR. HUNTER has Richard W. Searle as his best man. The bridegroom is a son of Judge Hunter of Tampa and graduated from both Harvard College and the Medical School, and is now on the Massachusetts General Hospital staff.

MISS WELD, Vincent Club and [illegible] Club member, is a daughter of Mrs. [illegible] Minot Weld, of [illegible] street and Hyde Park, and a sister of Mrs. George R. Minot, [illegible] Elizabeth Weld, Frances M[illegible] Weld and [illegible] Weld who [illegible] Miss Barbara Fo[illegible].

DECORATIONS of Watteau-like [illegible] beautified [illegible] ballroom of the Hotel Somerset for Mrs. Charles Wilson Taintor's ball. Enormous pale blue baskets filled with rose pink chrysanthemums were festooned from each electrolier, a pink and blue color scheme French in the extreme.

SOFT SOUTHERN smilax draped the balconies with feathery green, and in each corner of the ballroom there was an enormous green wreath tied with blue streamers. For the receiving line at the head of the ballroom, massed blossoms, and [illegible] chrysanthemums in their baskets, made a floral bower.

FOR THE LARGE DINNER just before the dance (Mr. and Mrs. Taintor gathered a company of sixty five as guests) a golden yellow color [illegible] prevailed [illegible] over [illegible] and [illegible] at in[illegible] about the long tables and making a gay centre for the round table, where sat the honored debutante, Miss Charlotte Taintor.

BUD-LIKE IN ALL white, her dark locks bound with laurel leaves done in brilliants, Miss Taintor was verily a centre of attraction. The presentation frock combined rich soft moire patterned in silver, with tiny silver threads outlining the layers of chiffon cut in points to form the skirt.

MRS. CHARLES TAINTOR'S costume was a very stunning affair of silver metal cloth flaring into a side godet entirely covered with a flower design done in beads. A slender drapery of silver caught at the shoulder under a bead ornament simulated a train, and she carried a plumed fan, mint green in color.

OF GREEN, but the softer amande tone, was Miss Ellen Taintor's frock, satin and silver lace in effective combination. The Taintors have a town house in Beacon street and of Summers belong to that set which has large estates out [illegible] way. Their place is called Barberry Hill Farm.

VERY EXOTIC and [illegible] colored (of the rosewood tones) are the [illegible] going out from the Theatre Guild of plans for the New Year. For [illegible] of Guild members in January there will be [illegible] from a Dublin playwright, Sean O'Casey.

HIS "JUNO AND THE PAYCOCK" has a Fine Arts Theatre presentation after the New Year.

The February offering is [illegible] announced [illegible] "Trelawney [illegible] Wells' revival [illegible] comedy [illegible].

IMMEDIATELY IN [illegible] ground, on December [illegible] with Durant, Incorporated, [illegible] Theatre Guild gives "A Sunny Morning," by Serafin and Joaquin Alvarez Quintero. Horticultural Hall is the place, the presentations taking form in connection with a large bazaar.

"TIS A BUSY WEEK for [illegible] which dance cleverly, poses gracefully, makes hit in eccentric makeup and [illegible] youthful beauty to picture ensemble. Scarce have [illegible] away for Animated Advertising [illegible] Junior League's Kaleidoscopes are here.

EVERY LEAGUER, WHETHER scene painter, costume designer, ticket seller or member [illegible] the cast is literally up to her eyes in last moment preparations. [illegible] row evening is the gala [illegible] the Copley Plaza ballroom [illegible] en scene and there is dancing after the show.

SPEAKING OF THE Animated Advertising, a [illegible] indeed was realized for Sweet Charity's insistent and always answered call and as for the sheer beauty of scene and ensemble Society is still exclaiming enthusiastically over particularly lovely numbers.

MISS GERTRUDE TAYLOR as the [illegible] in blue figurehead of a famous motor, quite brought down the house as she swayed and poised on the stage and then fled down the runway. Miss Peggy Porter, safely styled Society's most popular [illegible] [illegible] pause. And well this blithe and efficient daughter of the Charles Allen Porters' deserves her high popularity.

"I couldn't ride in [illegible] with [illegible]," said Mellie. [illegible] the Mayor [illegible] "Can you play the Wearing o' the Green?" [illegible] Mayor Hylan [illegible] and Mellie dared [illegible] then the Mayor backed down.

Before going to City Hall Mellie stopped at a sporting store and bought a fishing rod for his host's dad.

"WILD WOMEN!" HUH!

"Kinda tired," after first glimpses of Broadway's pulsing night life, Mellie slept late this morning, late that is, for a resident of Norway, Me.—and then, after breakfast, sat down for a quiet [illegible]

[illegible] the reporters wanted to know how "Mel" [illegible] "wild women" at [illegible] [illegible] Henry Ford and [illegible] for Admiral Peary, stroked his drooping white mustache for a moment, and then, his eyes twinkling, replied:

"Well, you can't teach an old dog new tricks. I'm a backwoodsman myself and they have to be mighty wild to be any wilder than I am."

'Mel' Has Hylan's Office Dancing Devil's Dream

New York [illegible] (I. N. S.)—"Mellie" [illegible] famous fiddler [illegible] such a hit with Henry Ford made a hit with Mayor Hylan today.

The [illegible] fiddle [illegible] visited the Mayor [illegible] and upon request [illegible] Rippling Waves, Devil's Dream [illegible] other nifty melodies.

In [illegible] few minutes he had [illegible] crowd in the Mayor's [illegible] They all voted Mellie is the "goods."

Bought 10 Out of 13 Gifts Here

I have a friend who said she came in town one day last week to purchase Christmas gifts. She said, "I went in to several stores, but found them so uncomfortable, and the goods so unattractive, I did not purchase anything. A few days later I came in town again, and as I was walking up Summer Street I saw Long's store. I had not seen their new store, so I went in. And I was perfectly amazed at their store's spaciousness, and the way the goods were displayed. Why, it was so beautiful and interesting, and so easy to purchase, that out of thirteen gifts on my list, I bought ten right there. Long's store is such a surprise that I haven't got over it yet."

Unjust to Keep Veno Brothers from Game

By BILL GRIMES

FROM New York comes the story that Stanley and Wilfred Veno will [illegible]

HARD PLAYERS, BUT CLEAN

[illegible] Manager [illegible]

As for Wilfred Veno, he has never intentionally injured an opponent in all the years he played in Boston. [illegible] Time and again he knocked himself cold and was carried from the ice, but game to the core, he was always ready and anxious to get back in there.

STAN SLIPPING

When the Veno brothers returned to Boston after a year with the New Haven Bears, Stanley showed signs of slipping, but Wilfred was a vastly improved player. He [illegible]

It would be a rank injustice to keep the Veno boys out of the game. It is doubtful if Stan would be able to play a great deal of hockey, if he were allowed to join the Knickerbocker team. His hockey days are about over. But Wilfred is right at the top of his game and should be allowed to continue.

She Was Square

S[illegible] square. [illegible] her [illegible] where [illegible] was completely forgotten [illegible] Tom had forgotten [illegible] existence. [illegible] white room [illegible] gay chintz, [illegible] decorated with quaint Godey ladies in the fineries of a generation past. She sat in the little rocker by the window, and looked down into the familiar garden [illegible] blinded with tears! All through the delightful wedding journey she had pictured her return home—the eager faces of her beloved family, and dear friends! And they had forgotten her! An [illegible] save for Grandma, [illegible] and a very cross Jackie. And the whole town [illegible] up Tom to welcome him back [illegible] and consult [illegible] business.' She just [illegible] Dolly buried her [illegible] of the [illegible] and her [illegible] shoulders shook [illegible]

"Dear, dear," exclaimed Grandma [illegible] entered the room. "Why, Dolly [illegible] just come home and [illegible] Whatever is the matter, honey? Tell Grandma all about it." And Dolly's wet face was suddenly transferred from a sofa pillow to Grandma's shoulder.

"[illegible] there, little girl," [illegible] Grandma [illegible] and get it all out of your system. But I do hope you and Tom haven't had a row."

[illegible] Dolly. "[illegible] Grandma. I came back home expecting you all would be glad to see us—and not a soul at the station! And the house all quiet and Father and Mother gone and Jackie [illegible] up on the veranda! And now Tom's invited out to the Club and spending the whole evening talking business."

"And my poor, spoiled Darling, with her nose all broken!" exclaimed Grandma with a gay little laugh.

Not Spoiled

Dolly sat up indignantly. "What do you mean, Grandma? I'm not spoiled!"

"You're acting like a little ninny!" said Grandma severely. "Want to spoil Tom's good time tonight just because you've a grouch on? Think he's going if he thinks you'll sit home and weep?"

"Oh!" exclaimed Dolly in a remorseful voice, and springing up she fled to the bathroom and turned on the cold water spigot to remove all traces of tears.

"There," commented Grandma approvingly, drying blue eyes and smoothing down [illegible] "I knew you'd be a sport, Dolly."

The clock struck one when Tom Winston sprang hastily from the car which brought him home and tiptoed quietly into the Holsworthy home. In the jovial company of his own sex he had completely forgotten the passage of time! Conscience-stricken and fearing the worst, he crept cautiously forward and opened the door of the living room. A blaze of light blinded him, and as he blinked there on the threshold, a burst of melody smote his ears.

Dimly at first, and then plainer he saw a roomful of girls, gay, laughing girls, Dolly's friends! Dolly herself was seated at the piano, and as her eyes met her husband's, her little fingers crashed down among the keys, while a shrill crescendo arose from all present as the abashed young man stepped forward.

"Here comes the Groom!" they sang.

This is Mrs. Willis Gush, president of the Never at Home Club, who has launched a campaign to wipe out the dreaded germ-spreading Oxford bags.

"For years," says Mrs. Gush, "We reformers fought against women's unhygienic skirts. But horrors! Now our alleged young men parade in a cloud of dust, wearing two such skirts.

"A sensible modification would be to have them cut off at the knees, the knees to be rouged or powdered to the wearer's liking.

"But if men must wear skirts that brush the sidewalk, it is up to the women to see that they wear but one skirt at a time."

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

A TIME for song and playing while hasting hours march by; a time for happy straying beneath the changeful sky; a time for friends and laughter, a time for talk and mirth, then reverie that comes after the twilight folds the earth. All these must fill the hours to make life fair and bright; yet these are but the flowers and fruit is in the labor man does with head and hand; be it with pen or sabre, for each some task is planned. When Fate's unkind, men foil her, by work sure sorrow's blight; each task will bring the toiler some vestige of delight. A time for mirth and singing before night's shadows lurk, a time for bright joy's winging, and best . . . a time for work!

CORRECT MANNERS

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Please explain how a thirteen-piece luncheon set may be used.

GERTRUDE S.

A THIRTEEN-PIECE luncheon set is used on a bare table. The large piece—round or square—is the centrepiece, the six pieces of secondary size are the "place" or "plate" doilies, and the six very small pieces are the doilies used under the water goblets or under the finger bowls. This set can be used for luncheon or for 5 o'clock tea, but not for dinner. If there are no very small pieces, then there must be twelve "plate" or "place" doilies.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

To settle an argument, would you please inform us whether it is proper to invite married bridesmaids and ushers to serve at a wedding?

FOXY GRANDPA BEDTIME STORY

By Foxy Grandpa

BOBBY laid down his book and sighed. "Wasn't slavery an awful thing, Foxy Grandpa? I'm just reading Uncle Tom's Cabin."

"It was an awful thing, Bobby," I said. "And something that will never occur again among civilized people."

"They always had slaves in olden times, didn't they, Foxy Grandpa?" asked Bobby.

"Yes," I answered. "In old Greek and Roman days slavery was common. I'll tell you a story about a slave of Roman times."

"Hundreds of years ago in Rome there was a poor man by the name of Androcles. He was a slave to a proud Roman.

"Androcles was taken to Africa by his master and there he was obliged to work very hard and had very little to eat.

"One night as he lay on his straw bed looking up at the stars he thought he could not stand it to be a slave and be beaten any more, so he determined to run away.

"He got up and started off in the darkness and took refuge in a cave. While he slept a great lion appeared, roaring with pain as he licked his paw.

"Androcles jumped to his feet and examined the paw of the beast and saw there was a big thorn in it. Quickly he pulled out the thorn and the lion stopped moaning.

"In a little while the lion returned, bringing in his mouth a dead rabbit for Androcles to eat and then led him to a spring where he could find water.

"The lion loved Androcles and for three years lived in the cave with him as affectionately as a big dog, sleeping close to his master's side and wagging his tail with pleasure when he woke up.

"But Androcles grew very lonely for his own kind, and finally made a break through the jungle, boarded a ship and sailed for Rome.

"But there he was quickly thrown into prison because he was a runaway slave and condemned to be thrown to the lions in the arena. For that was the customary punishment.

"The holiday arrived when the Romans were going to enjoy themselves by seeing the runaway slaves thrown to the lions. And Androcles was given a spear and pushed into the arena.

"Out of the cage jumped the great African lion. But instead of savagely attacking Androcles, the lion wagged its tail and went up to Androcles and licked his hand. It was the lion out of whose paw he had taken the thorn in Africa!

"The spectators cheered and everyone was puzzled. Even the Emperor was interested. He sent for Androcles and Androcles told him his story.

"So pleased was the great Roman Emperor that he made Androcles a free man and from that day the happy Androcles walked in freedom around the streets of Rome and with his old friend the lion following him like a dog and wagging his tail."

For Swollen Joints
Use JOINT-EASE

Most remedies fail, but Joint-Ease succeeds.

It's for joint troubles only, whether in ankle, knee, hip, elbow, shoulder, finger or spine—whether rheumatic or not.

It limbers up stiff, inflamed, painful, creaky joints so quickly you'll be astonished.

Two seconds' rubbing and away it goes through skin and flesh right down to the bone and ligaments—that's why it succeeds. Ask any reliable druggist.

PHONE CALLS DAILY TOTAL 50,000,000

By FRANK H. MELOON,
Financial Editor.

From President W. S. Gifford of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company I learn that the Bell System, with over 16,000,000 telephones, handle a daily total of 50,000,000 calls. President Gifford, who hails from the nearby Witch City of Salem, also states that "nobody owns as much as 1 per cent of our stock, so it seems to me the telephone company is literally publicly owned."

* * *

Not only President Gifford but also President Newcomb Carlton of the Western Union Telegraph Company is among those finding 1925 a year of great prosperity. Reflecting this, we find Western Union once again on an 8 per cent stock, the dividend having been raised within the week from the old annual $7 a share rate. We have to go back just 43 years to find the time when Western Union was previously been on an 8 per cent basis.

* * *

I wonder if the head of the telegraph company has noticed how much free advertising publicity he is getting from the movies. Every time a film actor or actress receives a telegram as a part of the screened performance the name of the Western Union and of President Newcomb Carlton appear conspicuously in the "close up."

* * *

Boston & Maine Railroad will resume dividends on common stock in the near future, in opinion of E. C. Niles, former Chairman of the New Hampshire Public Service Commission and now special counsel in railroad matters for the State, speaking in Concord, N. H. Chairman Homer Loring's plan of wholesale abandonment of branch lines of road will never be carried out, he says, basing opinion on results of hearings already held by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Special committee, consisting of Eliot Wadsworth, Edward W. Grew and Roger Pierce, named to represent stockholders of Hamilton Manufacturing Company, have not yet been able to develop a plan to meet the company's situation. Accordingly they will recommend further adjournment of special meeting called for December 17 to Thursday, January 21 at the Boston Chamber of Commerce. Committee states: "The mill continues its operations and the results for November show an improvement over October."

* * *

Eastern Steamship was bought by Paul Johnson & Co., Hayden, Stone and Foster. It was sold by Hamlin, Lee, Higginson, Jackson & Curtis and [illegible]. Selling at a new high for the year the stock was believed in some quarters to be discounting acquisition of the Cape Cod Canal by the government, which many regard as probable despite Washington wires forecasting adverse action. Steamship would benefit, of course, by the opening of the big canal.

Wall Street Gossip

ALLIS-CHALMERS extra or special dividends are not contemplated, says President Falk.

CUBAN-AMERICAN SUGAR earned $1.16 a share of common in year ended September 30, 1925, against $6.92 a share in preceding year.

IT IS understood Lehman Bros. were highest bidders for majority of $20,125,000 State of North Carolina improvement bonds.

CRANE CO., manufacturing valves, plumbing supplies, etc., now has 105 branch houses in this country, against 91 at end of 1924.

SPARKS-WITHINGTON Co. declared initial quarterly dividend of 50 cents on new common.

SPECULATIVE circles expect broader and more active upswing some time before mid-January.

ST. PAUL loadings in first twelve days of December were 72,525 cars, against 69,832 in like period of last year.

METRO Goldwyn Pictures Corporation, including subsidiaries for year ended August 31, reports net profit of $2,007,145 after expenses and Federal taxes.

BUFFALO, Rochester & Pittsburgh for quarter ended September 30 reports surplus of $315,034 after tax and charges, against $272,427 in third quarter of 1924.

FOR CHICAGO & Eastern Illinois President Powell looks for deficit this year 50 to 75 per cent. under that of $777,550 for 1924.

Liberty Bond Prices

Liberty bond prices (fractions in [illegible]) were: Liberty 3½s 99.25, first 4s 100 bid, second 4s 100 bid, first 4¼s 101.26, second 4¼s 100.23, third 4¼s 101.1, fourth 4¼s [illegible], Treasury 4s 102.29, Treasury 4¼s 106.10.

Grains Are Higher

Grains sold higher in Chicago. Wheat's opening prices 1½c to 2⅜c higher, new style, December $1.69½ to $1.69⅞ and May $1.66 to $1.66½, were followed by a rise to $1.70¾ for December and $1.67⅝ for May. Corn and oats went up with wheat.

National Rockland

National Rockland Bank declared regular quarterly dividend of 2½ per cent. and usual extra of 2½ per cent., both payable Jan. 2.

FINANCE

—By B. C. Forbes—

The skipper who lost his temper over the ongoings of his crew howled to one man: "All I want from you is courtesy and—little of that."

That suggests the attitude of business toward Congress. Apart from tax reduction, business wants prompt action by Congress—and little of that.

Rarely does the stock market of the financial community or the business community welcome the calling together of Congress. This time men of affairs have few or no apprehensions. They expected conservative counsels from Coolidge and they found the President hurling such exhortations as these:

"The country does not appear to require radical departures from the policies already adopted so much as it needs a further extension of these policies and the improvement of details. The age of perfection is still in the somewhat distant future, but it is more in danger of being retarded by mistaken government activity than it is from lack of legislation."

What, briefly, are the main things business desires of Congress? Most important of all, business, in common with the rest of us, wants thorough-going tax reduction before March 15, when we have to pay all or part of our 1925 income tax. Happily, there is every indication at present that Congress will not disappoint.

Given this belief, business will be prepared to overlook shortcomings on the part of our Legislators.

Business is almost a unit in demanding that the Federal Trade Commission be compelled, by law, to cease its constant harassment of legitimate concerns conducting their operations legally. The business world feels very strongly that the time has come to amend or end this miss-fire body of tax eaters.

Business and finance favor voluntary railway consolidations rather than the compulsory consolidations threatened by the Transportation Acts of 1920. If Congress does anything, business hopes it will encourage the Interstate Commerce Commission to endorse merger plans now before the Commission and to declare its readiness to O. K. other wisely-conceived mergers.

Also, the railroads want permission to own and run steamship lines, as in former days.

State Street Notes

STOCKHOLDERS of Columbian Manufacturing Company approved proposed consolidation of Columbian Manufacturing Company with Otis Company and Boston Duck Company.

CALL MONEY renewed at 5 per cent.

CITY TREASURER of Attleboro says $10,000 4 per cent bonds, bids for which will be received until December 17 should be dated June 1, 1925, and payable 1926 to 1930.

Bankruptcy Case

Norwich, Ct., Dec. 15 (A.P.).—The directors and stockholders of the H. H. Allyn Rubber Company today voted to present a petition of bankruptcy to the United States District Court. The concern, which manufactures automobile tubes, is capitalized at $250,000.

Initial Dividend

New York, Dec. 15 (A.P.).—General Baking Corporation, recently formed to effect a $400,000,000 merger of baking companies, today placed its Class A preference shares on a $5 annual dividend basis through declaration of an initial quarterly payment of $1.25.

WOMEN ENLIST WITH GOOD FELLOWS

of whether or not Santa really exists.

Good Fellow, your chance to convince them is truly at hand. Mayor Curley believes in being a Good Fellow and so, too, does Hiram N. Rasley. Read what Mr. Rasley has to say:

"I should be glad to bring some pleasure and comfort to five families during this Christmas season. Please send me the names. Two young women in the office where I work have very kindly consented to superintend the purchase of the needed articles.

"To my mind the Good Fellow idea of the Boston American is deserving of much commendation as it provides an opportunity whereby each individual may directly or through co-operation with others bring cheer to the heart of a mother or child at the time of the year when happiness should reign and heartaches be unknown.

"May no member of this prosperous community fail to learn of this their opportunity to satisfy the yearning of those aching hearts. Let no one give a deaf ear to these childish appeals nor turn away from the wistful glances and the hopeful expectancy. Let each remember that it is as true today as was written of old that: 'Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these, ye have done it unto Me.'

GREATEST BENEFIT.

"There is not one among the great human family who would refuse to relieve the emptiness of a child's heart on Christmas morning—no one who willingly would cause the faith of a child to be broken—no one who out of their bounty cannot spare at least a little that the upturned hands of little children might be filled.

"Giving to others reflects favorably on the giver. And he who has seen the face of a child light up at the realization of a want fulfilled knows the full meaning of that statement. For him there can be no compensation more satisfying than a child's look of gratefulness. A good deed performed in the interest of another is something that is never lost.

"The Good Fellow idea presents an opportunity to give but in that giving to give also of one self. Therein lies its greatest benefit. May the response to your appeal surpass your fondest expectations."

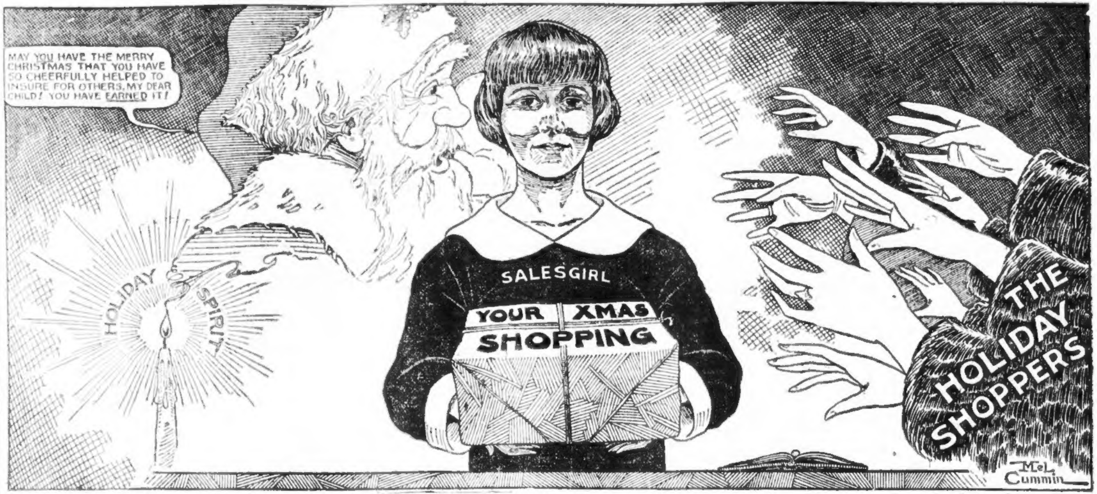
Remember the Workers---Shop NOW



MAY YOU HAVE THE MERRY CHRISTMAS THAT YOU HAVE SO CHEERFULLY HELPED TO INSURE FOR OTHERS, MY DEAR CHILD! YOU HAVE EARNED IT!
HOLIDAY SPIRIT
SALESGIRL
YOUR XMAS SHOPPING
THE HOLIDAY SHOPPERS
Mel Cummin

This is a reminder that ALL of us need. Don't say, "I will do my Christmas shopping EARLY"; say, "I will go out and do it NOW." Now is the best time for you, for the merchant, and for the hard-working men and women that wait upon you. (See editorial).

Make KINDNESS Part of Your Christmas Shopping

The Way to Do It EARLY Is to Do It NOW. So Begin

When you are small you learn by heart these pious words: "The kindness I to OTHERS show, may others show to ME."

Make this Christmas season one of KINDNESS, and begin with those who wait upon you in the stores.

They are overworked, from early until late. Christmas Day finds thousands of workers, especially the young women in the big stores, tired out, thoroughly exhausted.

Show your kindness by shopping EARLY in the day, and by shopping NOW.

The only time to carry out a good resolution is NOW. The only time to "do your shopping early" is NOW.

Shopping now does not mean merely kindness to workers that wait upon you and intelligent co-operation with the merchants that serve you, it means also profit, greater comfort, wider choice and better selection FOR YOURSELF.

Go to the stores as early as you can. Women especially should do this. Some other work that must be done can, during the Christmas season, wait until later in the day.

When the children go to school the mother with shopping to do should go to the stores and get that work done.

Spend what you can afford to spend, remembering that an extra dollar spent is by no means an extra dollar wasted. For at Christmas you buy not only merchandise but HAPPINESS FOR OTHERS. And money that is spent to give happiness is not badly or unwisely spent.

Give what you can afford. BE GENEROUS. This is a season of generosity. We celebrate the birthday of a divine spirit that gave LIFE itself, enduring death with dreadful agony.

His plea was ever for kindness, gentleness and mercy. Be kind and merciful to others, not selfish and indifferent.

'As Others See Us'---Wrong

Applause Won by Attacks on America and England

Marcel Cachin, Communist leader of France, wins applause in the Chamber of Deputies by attacking England and America.

"Both countries are usurers, guilty of supreme hypocrisy," M. Cachin declares. "The United States spends seventeen billion francs on her army and navy and has doubled her land forces . . . . She is slowly but surely reducing the rest of the world to financial slavery."

It is always well to see ourselves as others see us. It is still better for Parliamentary orators not to know so many things that are not so.

Infantry is the backbone of a standing army. M. Cachin ought to know that all the United States Army infantry, fifty-odd thousand men, could be marched into a single American baseball stadium and not much more than half fill it.

France, not now menaced by any foreign power, keeps seven times as many men constantly under arms. France has, exclusive of colonies, 212,659 square miles to protect with soldiers; the United States, exclusive of dependencies, has 3,617,673 square miles to protect.

As for the debts, we ask no usury, not even interest. Some agreement as to the principal is even more important to France than to us. It is the only thing that can restore French credit and confidence at home. If the United States were to cancel the entire debt today that would not put a dollar in the French treasury, nor balance the French budget, nor pay any of the overdue National Defence Bonds held by the thrifty, patriotic, toiling French peasants.

A Good Investment

And You Can Telephone Your Order

What do you hope to get out of a good investment? A net profit. Dividends. Something more than you put in.

The Good Fellow Club of the Boston Evening American supplies just such an investment. There are no overhead expenses—no secretaries, no printed forms.

Work-weary mothers, crippled boys, underfed little girls, poor people on whom the grind of living is cruelly hard, send us personal letters stating their case.

Read some of these letters in today's paper. Write us, or telephone Liberty 4000, and we will forward to you as many of these letters as you are prepared to take care of.

Here is the point: ALL THE SATISFACTION IS YOURS. You give the money direct to the poor family you are helping. You have a chance to play Santa Claus in person.

The happiest part of every Christmas is to see friends' faces light up with gratitude when they receive your presents. The greater their appreciation the greater your gladness.

If you become a Good Fellow, you are giving everything where there is nothing. If it is happiness you are seeking on Christmas Day, here you find it.

The Good Fellow Club is not a charity. It is an investment in personal satisfaction. And it will give you a bigger return than anything you have ever put your money into before.

Working Students

Out in the University of Chicago they have organized a club whose aim may be described as "Weird Ways to Work Your Way Through College."

The bureau supplies detectives, waiters, opera ushers, movie actors, bouncers in dance halls, butchers and bakers and candlestick makers.

Instead of looking down upon this effort, it should be encouraged.

There ought to be a department in every university to teach people how to make a living, or how to apply some of the learning they get in some of the other departments of the school.

WINTER STARS ARE SHOWING UP

By Garrett P. Serviss,
Noted Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest

THE evening glory of the wintry heavens waxes greater from the first half of December until mid-January. During that time Orion mounts from near the eastern horizon to the meridian—the mid-heaven.

About 9 o'clock in the evening at the middle of December the Milky Way, that marvelous bank of seemingly close-packed stars, which surrounds the heavens as we see them and forms the basal plan of the whole visible universe, stretches its glowing band from [illegible] the great Dog Star, near the southeastern horizon, above the heads of Orion and Taurus and [illegible], and then down the western slope until it dips under the horizon again, far in the northwest, near the glittering Vega, the [illegible] of the North.

Brightest Stars

Its entire course is [illegible] and studded with many of the brightest stars in the sky. In the east [illegible] Sirius. On the northern side of the Milky Way are Procyon and, above, the Twins, Castor and Pollux. Farther east, still on the northern side of the galactic band shines [illegible] giant brothers of our sun, belonging to the [illegible] family.

On the south side of the Milky Way, west of and higher than Sirius, stands Orion, king of constellations, with its glorious gems glittering on [illegible] and shoulders and belt—Rigel, the brilliant Betelgeuse, the [illegible] Bellatrix, the amazon star, and the "Three Kings," Al Mintaka, Al Nilam, and Al Nitak, (from right to left) standing in a row to form the dazzling Belt. The Arabians had the privilege of naming these stars, and they did it well, adding the euphony and oriental [illegible] the stellar splendor of the [illegible].

Above Orion and westward, the great bull Taurus furiously plunges his "golden horns," tipped, as with polished knobs, by the stars El Nath and Zeta, into the sparkle of the Milky Way, as if it were a matador's scarf of defiance. In the head of Taurus shines the V-shaped group of the Hyades, adorned with the apple-red Aldebaran, and behind, in his shoulder, glitter the matchless Pleiades.

Farther West

Still farther west, on the southern side of the Milky Way is the little triangular star-group of Aries, and then Andromeda and the Great Square of Pegasus. Nearly through the two stars forming the eastern side of the square, runs the First Meridian of the heavens, on which lies the Vernal Equinox. The upper one of these important stars is Markab, the lower, Algenib.

The middle portion of the southern sky, west of Orion, and below Aries and Andromeda, is occupied by the widespread constellations Eridanus and Cetus. In mythology the latter is regarded as representing the "sea monster" sent to devour the chained Andromeda, who was rescued by the hero, Perseus.

The latter's constellation is seen immersed in the Milky Way above the Pleiades and Aries, while Cassiopeia, Andromeda's mother, is represented by a group of bright stars appearing in the Milky Way, west of Perseus and presenting at this time of the year the figure of a letter W seen upside down (if you face toward the Pole Star).

Where the Milky Way plunges down toward the northwestern horizon the striking figure of the Northern Cross is seen standing upright in the midst of the flood of minute stars, while far down in the northwest the starry procession ends, guarded on the northern side by the brilliant Vega, as by a picket with flaming banner.

"You Said It, Marceline!"

ON "DEGREES OF LOVE"

SOME MEN WANT A GIRL
To love them a LOT.
OTHERS—wiser ones look for a woman to love them
A LITTLE.
SOME MEN seek a girl
Who wants TO BE
LOVED, and occasionally
A MAN wants A WOMAN
TO LOVE.
For SOME men have
DEVOTION,
But MANY have only
EMOTION to offer,
Though the girl doesn't
KNOW IT.

SOME MEN have BOTH
To give, yet they often
Meet a woman
Who only wants ONE.
SOME MEN have but ONE
To offer and MARRY
WOMEN who THINK
They are getting BOTH.
NOBODY KNOWS
What one is getting till
She has secured it.
EMOTION needs DEVOTION
To keep it CONSTANT.
DEVOTION needs EMOTION
To make it PLEASING.

WORDS OF THE WISE MEN

Cursed be the man who devours widow's houses, and for a show makes long prayers.

* * *

The hatred of knaves is preferable to their company.

He is doubly sinful who congratulates a successful knave.

* * *

We are born crying, live complaining and die disappointed.

It is altogether in vain to learn wisdom and yet live foolishly.

Learn some useful art that you may be independent of the caprice of fortune.

* * *

Broad thongs may be cut from other men's leather.

The learned pate ducks to the golden fool.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson.

THE Y. M. C. A., meeting in national conference, has gone on record as condemning modern feminine dress, especially the sport style, claiming that such dress is one of the contributory factors to the widespread immorality of the present era.

On every side other congregations and public speakers are enlarging on the same theme. The remarks recently made by District Attorney W. [illegible] Brown, of Modesto, California, in speaking before a Baptist convention, are typical.

YOU'D BETTER UNCOVER YOUR BRAIN!
YOU'D BETTER COVER YOUR KNEES!

"The manner in which women dress," says Mr. Brown, "is one of the causes for the lowering of morality. Girls will not wear longer dresses or remove paint from their faces until they see their mothers do it."

And the whole country cries "Hear! Hear!"

Now I will admit that this sort of thing Goes Over Big.

The easiest way for a public worker to Get In Solid with the community is to blame some existing fad for all the crime that's lying about loose. Never by any chance must he blame the people themselves. Never must he say:

"Short skirts and sunburned arms excite licentiousness because there is licentiousness in you to be excited. If you'd learn to control your own innate vulgarity and think in a clean and sane manner about the human body, the short skirt wouldn't do you a mite of harm."

No, never by any chance will Important Institutions put the matter thus frankly up to The People. For it is manifest that The People would feel no warm gratitude to anyone who thus parks the blame neatly on their own necks.

Yet that's exactly where it belongs.

The modern feminine styles are not responsible for the twentieth century viciousness.

They do expose more of the human body than has been exposed for some years, but there is nothing innately indecent in the human body.

There was more actual evil in one dress of the 1880 period than there is in a whole wardrobe of the year 1925.

Moreover, if suggestive curves be under indictment, commend me to the lady of 1880. The girl of 1925 at her scantiest is but an animated lath. Her body, trained by sports and restrained by diet, is as neuter in outline as her brother's. But the padding and bustles, the corsets and stiffenings of the belle of 1880 emphasized her femaleness in a dozen copious curves.

Let's try to be fair for once, old dears, and acknowledge that the vice is in the eye of the beholder and not in Susy's attire.

MEDBURY SAYS—

By John P. Medbury

THOUSANDS of women are getting married this month in order to have somebody around to carry their Christmas bundles.

LOTS of men who aren't so good as husbands are wonderful when it comes to packages.

THE women marry them before Xmas and divorce them after New Year's.

THEY promise to love, honor and obey, but reserve the rights after the holidays.

ONE dame had so many bundles to carry that she committed bigamy.

SHE told the judge that she had plenty of work for three husbands.

ONE of the husbands said he had been taken for every kind of an animal, but this was the first time a woman every took him for an octopus.

SHE even made him carry bundles in his mouth.

HE went to a dentist and had every tooth in his head pulled out. His wife didn't want his teeth to cut the strings on the packages.

HE visited the stores with her and carried home everything she bought. He fainted the other afternoon when she purchased a piano.

MEDITATIONS OF A WIFE

By Helen Rowland

SUCCESS in love consists in keeping it at an even temperature, never letting your emotions boil over and never letting the fire go out.

* * *

Helen Rowland

Fate is something that every girl is waiting and looking for—and every man is trying to dodge. Fate, after all, is marriage!

* * *

No doubt the modern girl's frank way of grabbing the man she wants is more honest and "noble" than her mother's way of sneaking up on him and marrying him before he knew it. But the scientific method of bringing down a wild deer is hardly by shouting, "Hoo-hoo, old boy, I'm going to shoot you!"

* * *

A woman marries a man to "save him from himself"—but a man always marries a woman to "save" her from some other man. In love, a man never really "takes hold" until somebody begins pulling the other way.

* * *

Many a husband spends three-quarters of his life as a "prisoner at the bar," trying to "explain himself."

* * *

Now, that the women are started, the men are wondering where on earth they will stop. Well, Son, if they run true to form, they will stop in the middle of the street and then turn back.

* * *

Give a husband an inch—and he'll take the whole bed-quilt.

MUSCLES OF THE SOUL ARE GOOD HABITS

By DR. FRANK CRANE

GOOD habits are the muscles of the soul.

As the muscles reinforce and strengthen and give power to the body, so good habits strengthen and give force to the sum total of the good impulses in a man's nature.

Like the bodily muscles, they expand and grow stronger with exercise or shrivel and waste away with neglect. The more they are used the more powerful they become.

Strengthening and developing these muscles of the soul—good habits—is far more important than building bulging biceps or being able to bend a spike with your bare hands.

The other day I read over again the little volume on "Habit" by the great American psychologist, William James. It is a small book containing only sixty-some pages, and it is well worth anyone's time to read it several times.

In it James gives the four steps in building up the soul muscles of habit.

He is concerned with the forming of new habits. This, however, is the same as breaking bad habits, for the most successful way to break a bad habit is to supplant it by another—a good habit.

These are the four steps he recommends:

1—Launch out on a new habit with as strong an initiative as possible. Start out with a "do or die" attitude. Marshal all the circumstances you can to enforce the right motives, he suggests. Put yourself consciously in conditions that encourage the new way. Make engagements incompatible with the old. Take a public pledge if the case allows.

The greater the momentum at the start the less likely there will be an immediate temptation to break down. And every day a breakdown is postponed adds to the chances of its not coming at all.

2—Never let an exception take place until the new habit is firmly rooted in your life. Continuous repetition is what gives the habit power. "Each lapse is like letting fall a ball of string you are winding. A single slip undoes more than a great many turns will wind up again."

3—After making a resolution seize the first opportunity to act upon it. Never make a resolution or feel an emotion to do right without expressing it afterwards in some active way.

4—Keep the habit alive and strong by a little daily exercise. Do something every day or two for no other reason than you would rather not do it, so that when the hour of dire need draws near the muscles of habit will not have grown flabby and untrained.

James says the man who has daily cultivated the habits of concentrated attention and self-denial in unnecessary things when the real test comes "stands like a tower when everything rocks around him."

Following these four rules, based upon everyday common sense, this famous psychologist says is all that is necessary to remember to build up strong and invincible muscles of the soul.

HOW STEADY PLUGGING IS HELP IN EMERGENCY

It is the "between hay and grass" periods which prove your earnest desire to get on in your chosen field.

There is always a dull time in any profession or business.

It is what you do with your dull time which makes or prevents success.

Of course it is not interesting to keep pegging away at certain things for which you have no use in the present and only a promise of use in the future.

But it is the spirit of preparedness that you need. A little earnest work along certain lines, before the time comes to use the knowledge may mean much to you in a critical moment.

You sort of feel that it must be keen necessity knocking at your door in order to keep you working.

You may not know for sure just where your work will lead you but no one ever lost out by being prepared.

If you wait for the time to arrive before you prepare to meet an emergency you will be surprised "at the switch." If you are sure of yourself you will be able to give expert service.
